

Bill To Spend Lottery Proceeds Passed By House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House has passed and sent to the Senate a $43.5 million supplemental appropriations bill designed to spend the first proceeds from the new state lottery.

About two dozen Republicans joined majority Democrats in approving the measure 75-20 Tuesday, although some GOP lawmakers hurled charges of pork barreling designed to win reelection votes for Gov. John J. Gilligan.

Action on the spending measure and House approval of a bill taking unemployment compensation coverage away from non-teaching school employees during summer months highlighted the start of a busy week.

The House turns its attention today to a major bill spelling out rights and responsibilities of tenants and landlords. Across the Statehouse, senators are slated to vote on bills taking away the state's immunity from lawsuits and making kidnapping punishable by the death penalty.

Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, led the fight against Gilligan's supplemental appropriations bill, calling it "a Christmas tree, with something on it for almost everyone."

He pointed out that the two biggest items in the measure, for Vietnam bonus bond retirement and vocational education construction, received their appropriating authority in earlier legislation.

"The rest of it is little goodies stuck here and there," he said.

Republicans offered three unsuccessful amendments, including one that would have hiked state aid to education in the upcoming fiscal year by $22 per pupil, for a total of $52 million. The amendment by Rep. Fred N. Young, R-38 Dayton, was tabled 53-42 along party lines.

Young and others contended the money to hike education spending exists in the state treasury in the form of a $61 million surplus, a claim denied by the administration.

House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who called Young's amendment "irresponsible," reiterated administration statements that revenues for the current biennium are running almost exactly as anticipated when the state's regular two-year fiscal budget was approved in June of last year.

The bill now goes to the Senate where Republicans who control that chamber are considering a $63 million supplemental appropriations bill of their own. Chairman Max Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, the sponsor, agrees with Young's estimate of surplus funds.

Dennis is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which is expected to consider the administration's bill and the GOP proposal at the same time.

The main difference between them is about $35 million Dennis would add for tax relief — repeal of the personal intangibles property tax and increasing the personal exemption under the income tax from $500 to $600 a year.

Largest single outlay in the Gilligan bill is $14.9 million for debt service on the first of $300 million in Vietnam bonus bonds the state will sell and pay off over the next 15 years.

It is followed by $12.5 million for the state's share of vocational education construction in those school districts which have voted authority for their local matching funds.

Otherwise, the administration bill provides for these projects: —$800,000 for improvements at the State School for the Blind.

—$50,000 for an education museum at Bowling Green State University.

—$150,000 in supplemental funds for the Northeastern Ohio Medical College.

—$500,000 for capital improvements at Central State University.

—$2.9 million to aid Cleveland, Cincinnati, Parma, Toledo, and Springfield with emergency medical services.

—$4 million for the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for transportation of mentally retarded pupils and to meet court-mandated wage increases for employees of state institutions.

—$60,000 for a jail inspection program planned by the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections.

—$1.5 million for improvements at the state fairgrounds.

—$394,000 for the Department of Natural Resources to take over Edgewater, Gordon, and Garfield parks in Cleveland.

—$4.2 million to provide free mass transit for the elderly except during peak hours.

—$110,000 for the Department of Commerce to establish a consumer protection office in tornado-stricken Xenia.

—$322,000 as a supplemental appropriation for the newly created State Energy Commission.

—$1.08 million for the state emergency fund.

Earlier in the prolonged floor session, minority Republicans won a victory by taking out of the unemployment compensation bill two major provisions the unions have sought unsuccessfully for many years.

Fifteen Democrats joined with the 39 Republicans present to delete coverage for workers idled as a result of a strike at another plant, and another provision to do away with a seven-day waiting period before a worker can apply for benefits.

The cost of the two provisions could not be estimated but "certainly would run into the millions," said Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, whose amendment deleted them.

Left intact was language that prevents non-teaching school employees from receiving jobless pay during the summer months. Coverage was extended to them for the first time in a 1973 revision of the unemployment compensation law, and many school districts said its costs are more than they can pay.

The House added an immediately-effective emergency clause to halt benefits before they can be paid this summer. The bill would take effect when signed by the governor.

The bill in the Senate making Ohio subject to lawsuits was scheduled for a vote on the floor last week, but was withdrawn and put on today's calendar.

Sponsored by Rep. Robert A. Nader, D-55 Warren, the bill would do away from the Sundry Claims Board, which sometimes pays claims as a moral obligation, and replace it with a Court of Claims, which could hear lawsuits.

Currently, the claims board makes recommendations to the legislature for final approval.

A resolution was introduced into the Senate Tuesday asking for an opinion by Atty. Gen. William J. Brown on Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's ruling that State Sen. Donald L. Lukens, R-4 Middletown, and others who didn't file their campaign expenses on time had their eligibility restored under a new law on campaign expenses.

The resolution was offered by Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, the Democratic nominee for secretary of state in November.

Hall said the decision by Brown, claiming the new bill took out the section that banned late filers from office for five years, violated the intent of the legislature.

Later, in a news release, Hall said the secretary of state owed him and the attorney general an apology for saying the two were in collusion for political purposes.

Hall and the attorney general are Democrats. The veteran secretary of state is a Republican. He has held the office 23 years.

"As a member of the General Assembly...I have the right to seek from the attorney general a written opinion as to whether the secretary of state can override the intent of the legislature," Hall said.

The Senate rejected 30-1 a House amendment to its bill allowing boards of education to lease their buses to non-public schools for regulated activities. The amendment would have made the public boards responsible for liability insurance while the buses were on loan.

The Senate approved bills that would: —Increase from $13,099 to $15,000 the maximum annual income a family could have before one of its children could be denied application for college under the instructional grants program.

—Correct an oversight in previous legislation that could have decreased the retirement credit of part-time public employees.

—Allow county recorders to increase fees for registering land titles, the increases ranging from 50 cents in one category to $10 in another.

Sen. Charles P. Bolton, R-31 Mentor introduced a bill allowing an income tax credit for tuition paid to any Ohio institution of higher learning. The credit varies from $5 up to $500, depending upon income of the person paying it.

Report Mideast Truce Agreement Reached

JERUSALEM (AP) — Sources close to the Israeli government said Israel and Syria reached a disengagement agreement today after 33 days of truce efforts by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

They said a formal accord was awaiting ratification from Premier Golda Meir's cabinet. No official confirmation was available.

The sources said the agreement called for the two governments to withdraw their armies behind a United Nations' buffer zone.

Unofficial Israeli informants said 1,250 U.N. troops would set up the buffer and that it would be one to four miles wide. They said it would stretch from Mt. Hermon along the Golan Heights, including the abandoned Golan capital of Quneitra and a strip 300 yards west of the wrecked town.

They said on each side of the buffer the armies would be reduced in two corridors, each six miles wide. In the front line corridor, troops would be limited to 6,000, with 75 tanks and 36 short-range cannon. In the deeper zone, each side would be restricted to 450 tanks, with no long-range artillery or anti-aircraft missiles, they said.

Despite the lack of official confirmation, newsmen were invited to Mrs. Meir's office to drink a toast with Kissinger.

"It's all wrapped up," said one source close to Kissinger's negotiations. "It only needs the cabinet to ratify it and that is a formality."

Israel's state radio said the disengagement pact would be signed by Israeli and Syrian delegates in Geneva at the end of this week.

Mrs. Meir's cabinet met early this morning to discuss the pact, then scheduled an afternoon session during which it would decide "yes or no," according to an Israeli government communiqué. It said the decision would be final.

Information Minister Shimon Peres told newsmen he expected the announcement would be in "very general terms."

Meanwhile, Israeli officials said Mrs. Meir may quit office in the next 24 hours and turn over the government to Premier-Designate Yitzhak Rabin.

Rabin won approval for a new coalition cabinet Tuesday night from Mrs. Meir's Labor party. He announced to President Ephraim Katzir that he was ready to take over with a new government that left out Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and some of Israel's most familiar faces.

St. Clair Against High Court Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Watergate lawyer says the Supreme Court should not intervene in the legal battle over White House tapes.

James D. St. Clair said Tuesday that the dispute over tapes subpoenaed by special prosecutor Leon Jaworski should be decided by the U.S. Court of Appeals before any involvement of the Supreme Court, which Jaworski has sought.

Meanwhile, Jaworski said there is evidence that Nixon probably discussed with aides use of the Internal Revenue Service to audit and harass political enemies, and he asked U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica to give him a White House tape which he believes contains that conversation. Discussing Jaworski's Supreme Court request with reporters, St. Clair said: "Cases that are concerned with constitutional issues ought to be carefully considered by the courts, and I think it would be appropriate that these matters not be short-cutted."

He said he would advise the court on Thursday.

A U.S. District Court has ruled that Nixon must surrender the tapes and St. Clair asked the appeals court last Friday to overturn the ruling.

On the same day, Jaworski asked the Supreme Court to assume jurisdiction, which would mean bypassing the appeals court.

In papers filed with U.S. District Court, Jaworski said there is evidence that the White House presented lists of individuals to the Internal Revenue Service for harassment and that "the White House unlawfully attempted to have the IRS investigate" former Democratic party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

Jaworski asked Sirica to reconsider an earlier order allowing the White House to withhold part of the tape of a Sept. 15, 1972, conversation involving Nixon and former aides H. R. Haldeman and John W. Dean III. Jaworski said both Dean and Haldeman testified before the Senate Watergate committee that the IRS was discussed at the meeting.

Sorry, Uncle Sam; Dycusburg Doesn't Want Your Money

DYCUSBURG, Ky. (AP) — Dear Uncle Sam:

You can bet your bottom dollar in the revenue sharing barrel that there's a Dycusburg. We even have a zip code, our own post office, a grocery, a restaurant and two churches!

It's just that we don't want the $652 you think you owe us. In fact, we don't want any state revenue sharing money, either.

It isn't that we're so rich that we couldn't use a few extra bucks. We're just smart enough to know it would cost us in the long run.

Respectfully,

The 89 residents of Dycusburg. This letter was never really written, but it sums up the feeling in this tiny rural community on the Cumberland River in far western Kentucky.

The federal government, seeking to find out why 242 towns like Dycusburg, zip code 42037, have not qualified for their 1974 revenue sharing funds, has sent six letters here to get information about how the town's $652 share would be spent. All were returned unopened, as unclaimed letters.

Postmistress Rhea Stinnett said, "I asked around, did all I could, but nobody would claim them so I sent them back."

The first of the letters was addressed to the town clerk, Mrs. Stinnett said, and Dycusburg doesn't have one. In fact, it doesn't have a mayor, a town council or any other kind of official anymore.

Dycusburg did form a town board last summer just to deal with revenue sharing, but after examining all the angles, it let the board automatically dissolve last fall.

"They understood that state revenue sharing money had to be used for street repair," John Howard said. "The state already takes care of our streets and if we took their money, they might stop. We wouldn't have enough to do it ourselves. We'd lose more than we'd gain."

Howard said the town understood that if it accepted federal revenue sharing funds it would have "to levy taxes — and we don't. If we accepted the money and somebody caught up on it later, they'd just ask for it back."

"With no taxes, where would we get it?"

GAS GUARD—Soldier guards gas station in Belfast, Northern Ireland, after the army moved into oil storage depots in Belfast and Londonderry and into a number of filling stations in Ulster to break the Ulster Workers' Council's stranglehold on oil supplies.

Protestants End Northern Ireland General Walkout

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Protestant extremist Ulster Workers' Council called off today a 15-day general strike which paralyzed Northern Ireland's economy and brought down the British province's moderate government.

The UWC announced that it was asking workers to drift back to their jobs, with heavy industry resuming production probably on Monday.

The announcement came as Prime Minister Harold Wilson called a meeting in London with his cabinet to discuss ways to solve the crisis in the province prompted by the resignation on Tuesday of Protestant members of Chief Minister Brian Faulkner's Executive, the provincial government.

Leaders of the walkout gave no immediate reason for calling it off. The move reversed early extremist pledges not to return to work until Wilson made his announcement on the provincial administration.

Weather

Warm and humid with showers or thundershowers likely today, high, low 80s. Cloudy tonight and Thursday with showers or thundershowers likely, low tonight around 60. High Thursday, upper 70s. Probability of precipitation, 70 per cent today and 40 per cent tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures Tuesday were: high, 73; low, 61.

Strike leaders wanted an end to Northern Ireland's first attempt at sharing power between its Protestant majority and its Roman Catholic minority. They got it, at least temporarily.

Catholic members of the Executive refused to resign, but a British government statement said the provincial administration could not function without Protestants.

In London, political sources said Prime Minister Harold Wilson was desperately anxious that power-sharing should continue in the embattled province. He called a meeting of senior ministers to consider a way out of the crisis.

When the coalition took office Jan. 1, it was heralded as a political organ to end centuries of feuding between Catholics and Protestants in the six counties. Politicians saw its downfall as a major and perhaps fatal setback to Britain's elaborate peace plan.

One solution available to Wilson under the Constitution Act of 1973 would be for Britain to nominate a caretaker government of politicians willing to serve along with senior civil servants, businessmen and labor union leaders.

This seemed unlikely to satisfy Protestant militants, however, demanding new elections to the Provincial Assembly, which they believe would reimpose Protestant rule in the province.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped into a slow but steady decline today, giving up most of the ground it had gained in last Friday's rally.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 7.35 and 30 industrials was down 7.35 at 806.95, and losers led gainers by 5 to 4 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts attributed the generally negative climate on Wall Street to prospects of continuing high interest rates as the Federal Reserve pursues its avowed plans to restrict the growth of the money supply in order to cool down inflation.

Cenco, Inc., the NYSE's most-active issue, was down 1/4 at 5 1/2 in trading that included a 111,000-share block at 5 1/4.

The Amex volume leader was Marindueque Mining B, down 1/8 at 4 1/8. The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .20 at 46.29.

TV Board Plans Bond Issue

The Teays Valley Board of Education Monday approved a resolution to proceed with a bond issue for construction of a middle school and additions and improvements to other buildings.

The average millage for the $3,650,000 issue, which will be placed on the November ballot, is 5.44.

In other business conducted at the meeting, the board accepted resignations, approved teacher and non-certificated assignments, and offered teaching contracts.

Resignations accepted were submitted by: Philip Everett, assistant principal and high school math instructor; Karen Davis, first grade teacher at Scioto; Helen Noecker, fourth grade teacher at Walnut; Drexel Poling, instrumental music; Dorothy Beavers, social studies; Ruth Tootle, home economics; Rita Tolcin, junior high science; Joyce Beathard, junior high math; and Mazie Hitler, fourth grade, Ashville.

The board approved the employment of the following teachers:

Janet Beck, Laura Craven, Judith Cromley, Christine Engler, Evelyn Kaiser, Laura Maxa, Dian Misoff, Anita Norris, Debra Snell, all elementary teachers; Beth Cramp, high school home economics; Patty Lewis, junior high school English and social studies; Neil Lehnhart, vocational agriculture; and Lawrence Dow, industrial arts.

The board employed Bob Hoover for eight weeks to instruct the summer driving training program. Mrs. Elaine Winters' contract as junior high home economics teacher was amended from

OYC Chief Emphasizes Child Care

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Youth Commission will focus its attention in the future on child care "for those youth committed to the supervision of the state," the agency's new director says.

And that means, Joseph L. White told reporters Tuesday, a shift in emphasis away from prevention of juvenile delinquency at the community level. White, after being administered the oath of office as successor to William Ensign, acknowledged his agency is "strapped" by large populations at many of its institutions. "And there is not a great deal that can be done about it," he declared.

But, said White, "There is a lot that can be done with small group therapy."

White said the shifting focus will mean a rerouting of resources "to the children who need our attention and our best efforts."

He said the changes won't mean the OYC will ignore juvenile court programs and community efforts.

"We will simply keep things in order of descending importance," he said.

White is a former deputy director of the administration of justice division of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development. He served with the OYC 1965-71 and has been on the attorney general's staff.

White, whose appointment must be confirmed by the Ohio Senate, said he has no plans for a major shakeup in administration. But he said he may undertake some reassignments.

"We will have a smaller central administration with more child care specialists moving out," he assured.

Lancaster Area Youths Killed In Fiery Crash

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Two Lancaster area youths have been killed in a flaming car wreck about five miles north of here on Ohio 188, authorities said.

Officers identified the victims as Anthony Burgett, 12, and Timothy Cook, 18.

They said Burgett's brother, Charleston, 16, was in critical condition at Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital.

They said the car apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed, ran out of control on a curve and slammed into a bridge. They said it has not been determined who was driving the car.

Women Climb Mt. Manaslu

MATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The leader of a successful women's expedition up Mt. Manaslu says she believes woman can scale "any mountain on earth."

Dr. Tsune Kuroishi headed the 11-member Japanese team that put three women on the peak May 4, claiming a record for women climbers.

Mt. Manaslu is 26,760 feet high.

Resignations from three non-certificated personnel were accepted. They are: Wilhelminia Drum, cook at Walnut School; Agnes Gray, parttime custodian at Walnut; and Melva Hollis, parttime custodian at the high school.

Jack Melvin was given three months leave from his duties at Scioto School and Greg Hall was employed as the summer custodian there.

John Kard was employed for summer maintenance work in the district. The board notified another parttime person that the position was being phased out and combined with another. The two parttime posts will be filled by a fulltime position.

Non-certificated employees re-employed for the coming year are:

Doris Parsons, high school secretary; Darlene Neff, junior high secretary; Beverly Six, cafeteria worker and study hall monitor; Pauline House, library aide; Patricia Perry, library aide; Mona Morrison, study hall monitor; Eva Meyers, study hall monitor; Mona Toole, cafeteria worker; Vonalee Ward, cafeteria worker; Joyce Jarrell, cafeteria worker; Paula Moody, cafeteria worker; Barbara Woodruff, cafeteria worker; James Brown, custodian; Noah Paxton, custodian worker; Leroy Herron, custodian; Carl Zeimer, custodian; Julia Kaiser, bus driver; Jane Kuhlwein, bus driver; Ann Perrill, bus driver.

Don Forquer was offered a supplemental contract as library consultant for the elementary libraries and to process title II materials.

A resolution was approved to employ Leroy Herron effective June 1 through July as custodian of Ashville and for the school term of 1974-75 effective Aug. 1 providing he qualify for a boilerman's license prior to school opening.

Paul Moody was promoted from dishwasher to fulltime cook at Walnut school. Mrs. Hulda Calton was employed to fill the combined post of parttime dishwasher and parttime custodian at Walnut School. The positions were previously held by two

Bob Hope Celebrates Birthday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— It's Bob Hope's birthday today, and he's got another big gift planned for the United Service Organizations.

Hope will celebrate his 71st birthday with a $100-a-plate dinner in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel. The proceeds will go to the USO, the group that serves U.S. military personnel all over the world.

Special benefits for military personnel, telethons and promotions for charities have been a trademark of Hope's career.

The ticket buys a place at the reception, dinner and Hope's patented comedy routine.

Hope asked that the celebration be held in Cleveland, where the entertainer was brought from England when he was four years old, the USO said.

The main award to Hope will be from the USO but representatives of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marines and Air Force will be on hand to present citations.

The Singing Angels and the Air Force Singing Strings are to be part of the program.

A selected group of ambulatory patients will be special guests. Hope was born in England on May 29, 1903, and came to this city in 1907.

Laurelville VFD Views Training Film

A training film furnished by Columbia Gas of Ohio was recently shown at the Laurelville Fire Department by Clair Colburn, manager of the Logan area office.

The training film showed how to deal with emergencies that arise when natural gas is involved. Colburn held a question and answer session following the film.

This was the second training film furnished by Columbia Gas that has been used by the Laurelville Fire Department in its monthly training program designed to keep firemen up to date on the latest fire fighting practices.

The Teays Valley board approved payment of tuition and transportation costs for students to attend neurologically handicapped programs in the southwestern city school district, Franklin County.

The hourly rate of one employe was adjusted from $1.85 to $1.90 to comply with the federal wage law.

Two students were permitted by the board to complete graduation requirements by tutor this summer under the supervision and approval of the high school principal.

The board authorized investment of money on a short term basis with the Ashville and the Citizens Banks. Orlan Cooper, high school principal, was authorized to file Title I applications in behalf of the district.

A resolution to participate in the multi county school district plan for special education for 1974-75 was approved. Teays Valley will pay its share of support for the services of speech and hearing therapy. Fairfield County acts as the fiscal agent for the district.

Attendance at the Ohio School Board Assn. Clerk-Treasurer clinic for Mrs. Ann Cook and Benis Lutz, district superintendent, was approved. In addition, attendance for Lutz at the Buckeye Assn. of School Administrators summer conference at Kings Island was approved.

A request for use of the gymnasium and outdoor facilities for a summer conditioning program was approved.

The board discussed school ending activities with the principals, the summer maintenance program, vacancies yet to be filled and the state inspection recently conducted.

Local Church Sponsors March For Missions

A 20 mile "March For Missions" will be staged here on Saturday by the youth and participating members of the United Pentecostal Church, Eva Drive and Route 56. The Rev. Glen James, pastor of the church, announced the march will be a part of its annual "Sheaves for Christ" fund-raising drive for missions projects around the world.

Participants in the march are obtaining sponsors who pledge a certain amount per mile walked. Checkpoints are to be set up along the march route to verify each person's "mileage."

The march is not limited to young people but some of the older members who are involved may find the trek a bit long. The objective is not fund-raising alone, but to provide an opportunity for unified involvement.

None of the goal of $1,600.00 will be retained by the local United Pentecostal Church. It will be allocated toward the purchase of vehicles and equipment for foreign missionaries, church extension programs in the United States and Canada and certain youth evangelism projects. Over two thousand churches took part in last year's SFC drive in which more than $1,250,000 was raised.

The march will begin at the church parking lot and will follow the Kingston Pike to Logan Elm Park and then a return trip to the church.

Courthouse Expansion Alternatives Given

Three alternative proposals for expansion of the Pickaway County Courthouse were discussed by county commissioners and John W. McGinnis and Raymond L. Horstman of Prindle, Patrick and Partners, Ltd., Architects, Engineers, and Planners.

All of the proposals were presented Wednesday to give commissioners information that will enable them to come up with a solution to a growing lack of space in the county landmark.

The actual building is in "good shape, structurally and architecturally as far as satisfying the state building code," according to Horstman.

However, he suggested a new heating plant, closure and better utilization of the light court, a wheelchair entrance, and a more compact means of storing documents regardless of continuation of plans for expansion.

Two of the plans include taking over of parking space on the Franklin St. side of the building, space between the courthouse and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Alternative I would add about 10,539 square feet of gross floor area in a three-story addition. Alternative II, which would further limit the parking area, would add 13,194 square feet of gross floor area in a three-story addition.

The third alternative would be a two-story addition that would add 15,920 square feet.

The need for additional space is most evident in the area of the probate and juvenile court, where expansion estimates would increase its present size 450 per cent.

Commissioners still have not ruled out the possibility of a city-county complex on the property, as a means of acquiring more space for efficient operations.

However, the proposals presented Wednesday were strictly for expansion of the county building for county agencies.

The board approved the employment of the following teachers:

Janet Beck, Laura Craven, Judith Cromley, Christine Engler, Evelyn Kaiser, Laura Maxa, Dian Misoff, Anita Norris, Debra Snell, all elementary teachers; Beth Cramp, high school home economics; Patty Lewis, junior high school English and social studies; Neil Lehnhart, vocational agriculture; and Lawrence Dow, industrial arts.

The board employed Bob Hoover for eight weeks to instruct the summer driving training program. Mrs. Elaine Winters' contract as junior high home economics teacher was amended from

OYC Chief Emphasizes Child Care

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Youth Commission will focus its attention in the future on child care "for those youth committed to the supervision of the state," the agency's new director says.

And that means, Joseph L. White told reporters Tuesday, a shift in emphasis away from prevention of juvenile delinquency at the community level. White, after being administered the oath of office as successor to William Ensign, acknowledged his agency is "strapped" by large populations at many of its institutions. "And there is not a great deal that can be done about it," he declared.

But, said White, "There is a lot that can be done with small group therapy." White said the shifting focus will mean a rerouting of resources "to the children who need our attention and our best efforts."

He said the changes won't mean the OYC will ignore juvenile court programs and community efforts.

"We will simply keep things in order of descending importance," he said.

White is a former deputy director of the administration of justice division of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development. He served with the OYC 1965-71 and has been on the attorney general's staff.

White, whose appointment must be confirmed by the Ohio Senate, said he has no plans for a major shakeup in administration. But he said he may undertake some reassignments.

"We will have a smaller central administration with more child care specialists moving out," he assured.

Lancaster Area Youths Killed In Fiery Crash

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Two Lancaster area youths have been killed in a flaming car wreck about five miles north of here on Ohio 188, authorities said.

Officers identified the victims as Anthony Burgett, 12, and Timothy Cook, 18.

They said Burgett's brother, Charleston, 16, was in critical condition at Lancaster-Fairfield County Hospital.

They said the car apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed, ran out of control on a curve and slammed into a bridge. They said it has not been determined who was driving the car.

Women Climb Mt. Manaslu

MATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The leader of a successful women's expedition up Mt. Manaslu says she believes woman can scale "any mountain on earth."

Dr. Tsune Kuroishi headed the 11-member Japanese team that put three women on the peak May 4, claiming a record for women climbers.

Mt. Manaslu is 26,760 feet high.

a fulltime to halftime position. Mrs. Beatrice Barnett was employed as a halftime home economics teacher for the junior high.

Resignations from three non-certificated personnel were accepted. They are: Wilhelminia Drum, cook at Walnut School; Agnes Gray, parttime custodian at Walnut; and Melva Hollis, parttime custodian at the high school.

Jack Melvin was given three months leave from his duties at Scioto School and Greg Hall was employed as the summer custodian there.

John Kard was employed for summer maintenance work in the district. The board notified another parttime person that the position was being phased out and combined with another. The two parttime posts will be filled by a fulltime position.

Non-certificated employees re-employed for the coming year are:

Doris Parsons, high school secretary; Darlene Neff, junior high secretary; Beverly Six, cafeteria worker and study hall monitor; Pauline House, library aide; Patricia Perry, library aide; Mona Morrison, study hall monitor; Eva Meyers, study hall monitor; Mona Toole, cafeteria worker; Vonalee Ward, cafeteria worker; Joyce Jarrell, cafeteria worker; Paula Moody, cafeteria worker; Barbara Woodruff, cafeteria worker; James Brown, custodian; Noah Paxton, custodian worker; Leroy Herron, custodian; Carl Zeimer, custodian; Julia Kaiser, bus driver; Jane Kuhlwein, bus driver; Ann Perrill, bus driver.

Don Forquer was offered a supplemental contract as library consultant for the elementary libraries and to process title II materials.

A resolution was approved to employ Leroy Herron effective June 1 through July as custodian of Ashville and for the school term of 1974-75 effective Aug. 1 providing he qualify for a boilerman's license prior to school opening.

Paul Moody was promoted from dishwasher to fulltime cook at Walnut school. Mrs. Hulda Calton was employed to fill the combined post of parttime dishwasher and parttime custodian at Walnut School. The positions were previously held by two

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— It's Bob Hope's birthday today, and he's got another big gift planned for the United Service Organizations.

Hope will celebrate his 71st birthday with a $100-a-plate dinner in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel. The proceeds will go to the USO, the group that serves U.S. military personnel all over the world.

Special benefits for military personnel, telethons and promotions for charities have been a trademark of Hope's career.

The ticket buys a place at the reception, dinner and Hope's patented comedy routine.

Hope asked that the celebration be held in Cleveland, where the entertainer was brought from England when he was four years old, the USO said.

The main award to Hope will be from the USO but representatives of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marines and Air Force will be on hand to present citations.

The Singing Angels and the Air Force Singing Strings are to be part of the program.

A selected group of ambulatory patients will be special guests.

Hope was born in England on May 29, 1903, and came to this city in 1907.

Laurelville VFD Views Training Film

A training film furnished by Columbia Gas of Ohio was recently shown at the Laurelville Fire Department by Clair Colburn, manager of the Logan area office.

The training film showed how to deal with emergencies that arise when natural gas is involved. Colburn held a question and answer session following the film.

This was the second training film furnished by Columbia Gas that has been used by the Laurelville Fire Department in its monthly training program designed to keep firemen up to date on the latest fire fighting practices.

The Teays Valley board approved payment of tuition and transportation costs for students to attend neurologically handicapped programs in the southwestern city school district, Franklin County.

The hourly rate of one employee was adjusted from $1.85 to $1.90 to comply with the federal wage law.

Two students were permitted by the board to complete graduation requirements by tutor this summer under the supervision and approval of the high school principal.

The board authorized investment of money on a short term basis with the Ashville and the Citizens Banks. Orlan Cooper, high school principal, was authorized to file Title I applications in behalf of the district.

A resolution to participate in the multi county school district plan for special education for 1974-75 was approved. Teays Valley will pay its share of support for the services of speech and hearing therapy. Fairfield County acts as the fiscal agent for the district.

Attendance at the Ohio School Board Assn. Clerk-Treasurer clinic for Mrs. Ann Cook and Benis Lutz, district superintendent, was approved. In addition, attendance for Lutz at the Buckeye Assn. of School Administrators summer conference at Kings Island was approved.

A request for use of the gymnasium and outdoor facilities for a summer conditioning program was approved.

The board discussed school ending activities with the principals, the summer maintenance program, vacancies yet to be filled and the state inspection recently conducted.

Local Church Sponsors March For Missions

A 20 mile "March For Missions" will be staged here on Saturday by the youth and participating members of the United Pentecostal Church, Eva Drive and Route 56. The Rev. Glen James, pastor of the church, announced the march will be a part of its annual "Sheaves for Christ" fund-raising drive for missions projects around the world.

Participants in the march are obtaining sponsors who pledge a certain amount per mile walked. Checkpoints are to be set up along the march route to verify each person's "mileage."

The march is not limited to young people but some of the older members who are involved may find the trek a bit long. The objective is not fund-raising alone, but to provide an opportunity for unified involvement.

None of the goal of $1,600.00 will be retained by the local United Pentecostal Church. It will be allocated toward the purchase of vehicles and equipment for foreign missionaries, church extension programs in the United States and Canada and certain youth evangelism projects. Over two thousand churches took part in last year's SFC drive in which more than $1,250,000 was raised.

The march will begin at the church parking lot and will follow the Kingston Pike to Logan Elm Park and then a return trip to the church.

Courthouse Expansion Alternatives Given

Three alternative proposals for expansion of the Pickaway County Courthouse were discussed by county commissioners and John W. McGinnis and Raymond L. Horstman of Prindle, Patrick and Partners, Ltd., Architects, Engineers, and Planners.

All of the proposals were presented Wednesday to give commissioners information that will enable them to come up with a solution to a growing lack of space in the county landmark.

The actual building is in "good shape, structurally and ar-

chitecturally as far as satisfying the state building code," according to Horstman.

However, he suggested a new heating plant, closure and better utilization of the light court, a wheelchair entrance, and a more compact means of storing documents regardless of continuation of plans for expansion.

Two of the plans include taking over of parking space on the Franklin St. side of the building, space between the courthouse and the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Alternative I would add about 10,539 square feet of gross floor area in a three-story addition. Alternative II, which would further limit the parking area, would add 13,194 square feet of gross floor area in a three-story addition.

The third alternative would be a two-story addition that would add 15,920 square feet.

The need for additional space is most evident in the area of the probate and juvenile court, where expansion estimates would increase its present size 450 per cent.

Commissioners still have not ruled out the possibility of a city-county complex on the property, as a means of acquiring more space for efficient operations.

However, the proposals presented Wednesday were strictly for expansion of the county building for county agencies.

A Page Of Opinion

Then And Now

A favorite pastime of economists, statisticians and plain or garden variety figurers is to compare prices, living costs, etc., of today to those of 20, 30 or more years ago. Readers in the past would see such figures and drool.

But there is little evidence

NEW YORK, — People . . . Places

Dan Topping, dead at 62, was the last American "sportsman," a designation which certainly will soon be marked archaic in the dictionaries. He was an outstanding amateur golfer who was consistently taken for large sums by such professional hustlers as the legendary Hal Sims, an early Bobby Riggs. Dan, heir to many millions, learned to fly and immensely enjoyed scaring hell out of friends along the Southampton beaches by buzzing them at harrowingly low altitudes. He was one of the founders of the "other" football league, later melded with the NFL. He bought the New York Yankees with the help of his mother and Del Webb, hired and fired Casey Stengel after a fabulous string of pennants and World Series, married almost as many wives as Ibn Saud, left nine children, was a good U.S. Marine during the big war but died of cigars. The doctors called it emphysema.

Handsome Dan deserved a better cause of death, a gun duel in Belle Watling's waiting room, let's say, or a romantic explosion on the way to the moon.

Not being able to comprehend sums like $17,300,000, I haven't been regularly following the long-drawn-out case of libel lodged against Howard Hughes by former FBI agent Robert A. Maheu, once Hughes's manager of Nevada. But from time to time something happens in Federal Court, Los Angeles, that is fascinating and perhaps of sociological significance.

For example, Judge Harry Pregerson, after listening to Maheu's sad story about what hell it was to work for Hughes (Maheu had earlier said he had seen Hughes only twice in his life) interrupted to ask the witness, "Why did you stay with this man?"

Well, Maheu replied that Hughes had bought him a $500,000 house on the grounds of a plush Las Vegas golf course, plus $10,000 a week retainer to Maheu's small management company (which included Maheu's son), plus a mountain-side aerie reachable only by helicopter, plus a bountiful expense account, use of cars, planes, and other benefits. So, with heavy-heart, he stayed on the job, Maheu testified.

"You were willing to take the thorns with the roses, is that it?" the puzzled judge asked.

"Judge," Maheu replied, "there weren't many roses."

Let's face it, times are tough all over.

Jonathan Winters wants to make a TV movie about Babe Ruth. The comedian looks startlingly like the Babe, who turns out to have been Winters' idol as a kid. The resemblance is certainly a great deal stronger than that of the late William Bendix, who appeared as Ruth in the 1948 film which has become a late, late, late show perennial.

I had something to do with that artistic turkey, but lost out, 3-2, to a resident scriptwriter at Allied Artists who apparently had never been to a ball game. I rewrote the script twice, but the other hack rewrote it three that any one is impressed today. No one, it seems, wants a dollar that would buy a basket of groceries if it were accompanied by a matching reduction in income.

A plentiful money supply that will buy less has won public favor, and never mind what the 1939 dollar could buy.

As long as this public attitude prevails, inflation will continue on its upward course. And as of now all the crystal gazers have been wrong in their predictions as to when inflation will be slowed.

Dan Topping

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

There were two warnings that the film about the most dramatic ball player of all time might not win an Academy Award:

1. Bendix said at our first meeting that he wouldn't need any instructions on how Babe swung a bat. This came as a bit of a surprise, particularly to former big leaguer Pat Flaherty, the technical director and brother of one of the most gifted sportswriters of them all, Vincent Xavier Flaherty. "Here's how Babe hit," Bendix said, rolling a newspaper into the semblance of a bat. "He'd crouch there for a while and then when the pitcher went into his wind-up he'd run three steps toward the pitcher's mound." All the blood went out of Flaherty's face. He might have been thinking what a suicidal act

NEW YORK (AP) — While the United States turned in a net trade surplus of nearly $93 million in April, it is far too early to say that deficits are behind us. Not with oil prices as they are.

No matter how encouraging the country's exports look, some trade analysts look for a net imbalance for the entire year. Blame it not on export weakness, they say, but on import prices, especially for oil.

The Morgan Guaranty, which closely follows the situation, foresees a 1974 trade deficit of as much as $5.5 billion, the unhappy consequence of an increase of $16 billion or more in the cost of oil imports.

Aside from the problem—and realistically, of course, it cannot be put aside—the U.S. trade position has improved in several categories during the past year, remarkably so in some respects.

Many a food buyer won't view the situation with the same joy as might a government bureaucrat, but a good part of the improvement is due to a huge leap in the value of agricultural exports from this, the most highly industrialized nation in the world.

In 1972 the United States sent abroad $3 billion more agricultural goods than it imported. In 1973 the comparable figure was $9.4 billion, and in the first quarter of 1974 the agricultural surplus rose to an annual rate of $13 billion.

While that first-quarter could very well fall off to a full-year rate roughly the same as last year's, it does indicate the preeminence of the United States as the world's breadbasket, even if some of the increase is due to inflation.

Almost every other nation on earth has a greater proportion of its citizens engaged in agriculture, but none can even approach the United States in productive capacity and efficiency.

Fortunately for the trade balance, but less happily for the American consumer, food prices are increasingly determined by a world rather than domestic market. If world demand pushes up prices, Americans must pay too.

Another encouraging segment of the

that would have been against, say, Walter Johnson or Lefty Grove.

2. - My kid Mike longed for the day when the film would be finished and he could borrow a print of it. "It'll make me the biggest kid in school," he said many times. Alas, the day came when I screened it for him. As it unfolded, with the gnarled and seam-faced Bendix playing Babe as a schoolboy at St. Mary's Industrial, Baltimore, Mike fell into an unaccustomed period of deep silence, and remained in it until the lights came on. Then he said, "Don't bother about showing it at my school, Dad. I'd hate to see you carrying those heavy cans of film all the way up there."

So, rots of ruck, Jonathan.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

trade figures is finished manufactures, especially of heavy, capital items. In 1972, finished manufactures showed a net trade deficit of $1 billion. In 1973, a $1 billion surplus showed up.

Since the third quarter of 1973 the surplus in this area has been growing, and during the first three months of this year was at an annual rate of $6.1 billion.

Aided by a dollar devaluation that Morgan Guaranty puts at 19 per cent in about four years, U.S. trade strength actually has improved except for that big but — oil.

All by itself oil is tipping the balance of trade, and not nearly so much because of its volume as its price. Last month, said Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent, imported oil averaged $9.84 a barrel, versus $2.78 a year ago.

Whatever you do, don't resign.

Stay in there and pitch!

This coordinated, orchestrated campaign that is under way on Capitol Hill is just an effort to stampede Congress.

I, along with the majority of the American people, am sick and tired of this campaign.

I am fed up with the liberal media like CBS, NBC, Washington Post. All they say is against you with a lot of innuendoes, unproven statements and other trash.

The credibility gap is in the unfair treatment that the media has given you.

Don't resign!

In addition . . . no public opinion poll shows any great desire on the part of the American people to restructure the health care delivery system. There is no health crisis. We have the best health care system in the world. Politicians just want more power and more control. We need the health care of this country taken over by the government, like we need a hole in our heads. Quit tampering with the best system in the world.

The same group that is after you, this is the same group that wants a National Health Service. You don't want the health care delivery system under the control of the government — then why are you trying to compromise with your CHIP program. Have the guts to say NO!

The best of luck to you.

A decision in favor of Fairfield County was rendered in the case of the Henry Phillips estate by Probate Judge Van A. Snider in a battle of counties. Approximately $2,000 in inheritance and ordinary taxes were involved in the legal battle to decide whether Phillips' home was in Fairfield or Pickaway Counties, and consequently, which would receive the taxes due from the $48,000 estate.

L. F. Smith's Bootery, 104 E. Main St., was offering a free scooter or baseball with each pair of boys' or girls' shoes or oxfords purchased.

Through the courtesy of Postmaster Orrin L. Gessley, secretary of the Ohio Postmaster's Association, a representative of the Circleville Union-Herald was able to see the state flag of Ohio which was to be presented to the post office department in Washington, D. C.

Dr. H. H. Snively of Columbus gave the address at the Memorial Day ceremonies. Music was presented by the 166th Infantry Band.

The New Holland chicken thieves were bound over to the grand jury under $500 bond by Mayor Briggs, who said they had been stealing the birds for some time.

The Union-Herald was giving $16 in Aer-O-Plane Bonds for each $1 paid on subscriptions to the paper.

Pilot Sought

FAIRFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The pilot who buzzed the golf course at the Pleasant Run Country Club Sunday is being sought by police.

James Baker, Fairfield, one of the golfers forced to hit the ground, filed the complaint, police said.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My doctor calls it "tachycardia" and assures me that I have nothing wrong with my heart. Nevertheless, I live in fear that it will begin again.

Mrs. G. L., Ohio

Dear Mrs. L.:

The sensation you describe of sudden rapid palpitation of the heart is indeed frightening to all of those who have experienced it. The breathlessness and faint feeling that almost always accompany it adds to the anxiety.

Your doctor's assurance that there is no basic heart disease or heart damage should be assuring. Yet when an attack does occur all logical reasoning seems momentarily to disappear.

Normally, the rate of the heart is controlled by a central "switchboard." The beat is regular and varies only with exercise or unusual activity. Sometimes, the "switchboard" is temporarily thrown out of gear, and tachycardia results. This simply means an abnormal rapidity of the heartbeat. There are many things that can contribute to this. Among them are severe emotional pressure, excessive tobacco, large quantities of caffeine in coffee or in tea, toxic reactions to Miss R. P., Ore.

Dear Miss P.:

I am always delighted when I hear from my young readers who express their interest in biology, physiology, and the sciences.

The wonders of the body are limitless. When young people are involved in learning more about the human body they tend to respect good health and maintain it.

Tetanus and tetany are two totally different problems. Tetanus, or "lock jaw," is an acute infectious disease caused by the germ, clostridium tetani. It enters the body through a contaminated wound.

Tetany is a spasm of the muscles of the hands and feet, caused by chemical imbalance in the blood, and by disorders of the tiny parathyroid glands in the neck.

ol' Buttertongue has to open his yap and say, 'Oh yes, the Prez had an automatic recording device.' You know something funny, Reeb? I can't remember telling him about it.

Didn't understand you, Reeb. What? Of course not. That's exactly what the country wants me to do. Have you ever known me to quit under fire? You bet your (expletive). And I've been under fire as far back as I can remember. And when I say, fire, boy, I mean flames and mortar shells.

Excuse me? Oh, him. Hiding somewhere in Carolina, I suppose. He was as pious as all hell when the going was good. Anyway, I got a priest now. They major in logic, you know. Yeah. All I do is unsnap the leash and he goes out on the lawn and hands down the gospel of the day.

As long as they print it. Wouldn't you hate to be on the other side of this battle right now? Reeb, what kind of an answer is that? Hello? Hello? Okay, operator. I'll drop it in quarters. Do me a favor. Don't cut in on a private conversation unless you want to get into deep trouble. What's your name and rank?

Hello? Reeb? She cut out. Watch what you say, she may be l-i-s-t-e-n-i-n-g. Be loyal. Stick with me. That's all I ever asked of John and John and John—. Huh? You know which ones. The sneer, the pipe, the mouth. Yeah. All I have to say is thank God for Henry. The accomplishments are electrifying. You're right. I don't like that word either. To be honest, I don't like him taking the bows for China, Russia and the Arabs. I, and I alone, sent him on those missions. I wonder why Israel doesn't trust a guy with his ancestry?

Oh, I can tell you what they want—everything. But that isn't why I called you, Reeb. I told you what your reward would be. If we ever recognize Castro, you're our ambassador. What do you mean, you don't want it? I thought you'd love it. There's a lot of sugar lying around.

Well, think it over. Now Reeb. I'm going to say this once and say it slowly. You know where my office is situated in the far west? Hah? Did you have to mention the town, dammit!

Okay. The office. Down in front of it, toward the beach, is a crooked palm tree. Yeah. Crooked. Don't be funny, Reeb. Take a kid's shovel and go there and dig on the beach side. Beach! About two feet down, you will find seven coffee cans. That's my boy! Bring one. Don't open it. Don't look in. And bury the others.

A Page Of Opinion

Then And Now

A favorite pastime of economists, statisticians and plain or garden variety figurers is to compare prices, living costs, etc., of today to those of 20, 30 or more years ago. Readers in the past would see such figures and drool.

But there is little evidence

NEW YORK, — People ... Places

Dan Topping, dead at 62, was the last American "sportsman," a designation which certainly will soon be marked archaic in the dictionaries. He was an outstanding amateur golfer who was consistently taken for large sums by such professional hustlers as the legendary Hal Sims, an early Bobby Riggs. Dan, heir to many millions, learned to fly and immensely enjoyed scaring hell out of friends along the Southampton beaches by buzzing them at harrowingly low altitudes. He was one of the founders of the "other" football league, later melded with the NFL. He bought the New York Yankees with the help of his mother and Del Webb, hired and fired Casey Stengel after a fabulous string of pennants and World Series, married almost as many wives as Ibn Saud, left nine children, was a good U.S. Marine during the big war but died of cigarettes. The doctors called it emphysema.

Handsome Dan deserved a better cause of death, a gun duel in Belle Watling's waiting room, let's say, or a romantic explosion on the way to the moon.

Not being able to comprehend sums like $17,300,000, I haven't been regularly following the long-drawn-out case of libel lodged against Howard Hughes by former FBI agent Robert A. Maheu, once Hughes's manager of Nevada. But from time to time something happens in Federal Court, Los Angeles, that is fascinating and perhaps of sociological significance. For example, Judge Harry Pregerson, after listening to Maheu's sad story about what hell it was to work for Hughes (Maheu had earlier said he had seen Hughes only twice in his life) interrupted to ask the witness, "Why did you stay with this man?"

Well, Maheu replied that Hughes had bought him a $500,000 house on the grounds of a plush Las Vegas golf course, plus $10,000 a week retainer to Maheu's small management company (which included Maheu's son), plus a mountain-side aerie reachable only by helicopter, plus a bountiful expense account, use of cars, planes, and other benefits. So, with heavy-heart, he stayed on the job, Maheu testified.

"You were willing to take the thorns with the roses, is that it?" the puzzled judge asked.

"Judge," Maheu replied, "there weren't many roses."

Let's face it, times are tough all over.

Jonathan Winters wants to make a TV movie about Babe Ruth. The comedian looks startlingly like the Babe, who turns out to have been Winters' idol as a kid. The resemblance is certainly a great deal stronger than that of the late William Bendix, who appeared as Ruth in the 1948 film which has become a late, late show perennial.

I had something to do with that artistic turkey, but lost out, 3-2, to a resident scriptwriter at Allied Artists who apparently had never been to a ball game. I rewrote the script twice, but the other hack rewrote it three that any one is impressed today. No one, it seems, wants a dollar that would buy a basket of groceries if it were accompanied by a matching reduction in income.

A plentiful money supply that will buy less has won public favor, and never mind what the 1939 dollar could buy.

As long as this public attitude prevails, inflation will continue on its upward course. And as of now all the crystal gazers have been wrong in their predictions as to when inflation will be slowed.

that would have been against, say, Walter Johnson or Lefty Grove.

2. - My kid Mike longed for the day when the film would be finished and he could borrow a print of it. "It'll make me the biggest kid in school," he said many times. Alas, the day came when I screened it for him. As it unfolded, with the gnarled and seam-faced Bendix playing Babe as a schoolboy at St. Mary's Industrial, Baltimore, Mike fell into an unaccustomed period of deep silence, and remained in it until the lights came on. Then he said, "Don't bother about showing it at my school, Dad. I'd hate to see you carrying those heavy cans of film all the way up there."

So, rots of ruck, Jonathan.

There were two warnings that the film about the most dramatic ball player of all time might not win an Academy Award:

1. - Bendix said at our first meeting that he wouldn't need any instructions on how Babe swung a bat. This came as a bit of a surprise, particularly to former big leaguer Pat Flaherty, the technical director and brother of one of the most gifted sportswriters of them all, Vincent Xavier Flaherty. "Here's how Babe hit," Bendix said, rolling a newspaper into the semblance of a bat. "He'd crouch there for a while and then when the pitcher went into his wind-up he'd run three steps toward the pitcher's mound." All the blood went out of Flaherty's face. He might have been thinking what a suicidal act

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — While the United States turned in a net trade surplus of nearly $93 million in April, it is far too early to say that deficits are behind us. Not with oil prices as they are.

No matter how encouraging the country's exports look, some trade analysts look for a net imbalance for the entire year. Blame it not on export weakness, they say, but on import prices, especially for oil.

The Morgan Guaranty, which closely follows the situation, foresees a 1974 trade deficit of as much as $5.5 billion, the unhappy consequence of an increase of $16 billion or more in the cost of oil imports.

Aside from the problem—and realistically, of course, it cannot be put aside—the U.S. trade position has improved in several categories during the past year, remarkably so in some respects.

Many a food buyer won't view the situation with the same joy as might a government bureaucrat, but a good part of the improvement is due to a huge leap in the value of agricultural exports from this, the most highly industrialized nation in the world.

In 1972 the United States sent abroad $3 billion more agricultural goods than it imported. In 1973 the comparable figure was $9.4 billion, and in the first quarter of 1974 the agricultural surplus rose to an annual rate of $13 billion.

While that first-quarter could very well fall off to a full-year rate roughly the same as last year's, it does indicate the preeminence of the United States as the world's breadbasket, even if some of the increase is due to inflation. Almost every other nation on earth has a greater proportion of its citizens engaged in agriculture, but none can even approach the United States in productive capacity and efficiency.

Fortunately for the trade balance, but less happily for the American consumer, food prices are increasingly determined by a world rather than domestic market. If world demand pushes up prices, Americans must pay too.

Another encouraging segment of the trade figures is tipping the balance of trade, and not nearly so much because of its volume as its price. Last month, said Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent, imported oil averaged $9.84 a barrel, versus $2.78 a year ago.

Aided by a dollar devaluation that Morgan Guaranty puts at 19 per cent in about four years, U.S. trade strength actually has improved except for that big but — oil.

All by itself oil is tipping the balance of trade, and not nearly so much because of its volume as its price. Last month, said Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent, imported oil averaged $9.84 a barrel, versus $2.78 a year ago.

Excuse me? Oh, him. Hiding somewhere in Carolina, I suppose. He was as pious as all hell when the going was good. Anyway, I got a priest now. They major in logic, you know. Yeah. All I do is unsnap the leash and he goes out on the lawn and hands down the gospel of the day.

As long as they print it. Wouldn't you hate to be on the other side of this battle right now? Reeb, what kind of an answer is that? Hello? Hello? Okay, operator. I'll drop it in quarters. Do me a favor. Don't cut in on a private conversation unless you want to get into deep trouble. What's your name and rank?

Hello? Reeb? She cut out. Watch what you say, she may be l-i-s-t-e-n-i-n-g. Be loyal. Stick with me. That's all I ever asked of John and John and John—. Huh? You know which ones. The sneer, the pipe, the mouth. Yeah.

All I have to say is thank God for Henry. The accomplishments are electrifying. You're right. I don't like that word either. To be honest, I don't like him taking the bows for China, Russia and the Arabs. I, and I alone, sent him on those missions. I wonder why Israel doesn't trust a guy with his ancestry?

Oh, I can tell you what they want—everything. But that isn't why I called you, Reeb. I told you what your reward would be. If we ever recognize Castro, you're our ambassador. What do you mean, you don't want it? I thought you'd love it. There's a lot of sugar lying around.

Well, think it over. Now Reeb, I'm going to say this once and say it slowly. You know where my office is situated in the far west? Hah? Did you have to mention the town, dammit!

Okay. The office. Down in front of it, toward the beach, is a crooked palm tree. Yeah. Crooked. Don't be funny, Reeb. Take a kid's shovel and go there and dig on the beach side. Beach! About two feet down, you will find seven coffee cans. That's my boy! Bring one. Don't open it. Don't look in. And bury the others.

They'll Do It Every Time

35th ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hinton, 2120 Chippewa Drive, Logan Elm Village, will be honored by their children with an open house on their 35th wedding anniversary Saturday at their home. They will greet their friends between 6 and 10 p.m. Emmett Hinton and Jewell LeMaster were married June 3, 1939 at McArthur by the Rev. William Harold. The couple has two sons, James and Gerald Hinton of Circleville; two daughters, Mrs. William (Juanita) Schleich, Circleville and Judith Perry, Mt. Sterling. There are four grandsons and three granddaughters.

Mrs. Schubert Measamer Presents Arranging Program For Pickaway Garden Club

Mrs. Schubert Measamer, introduced by Mrs. Eugene Barthelmas, presented a flower arranging program entitled "Reflections" for Pickaway County Garden Club members and guests at the May meeting held at First Presbyterian Church.

She said her reflections in flowers would be of women and that each could find herself in one of the arrangements. They ranged from the always dependable to today's liberated lady.

The steadfast person was done with copper colored iris and wild mustard which picked up the color of the iris beads, placed in a low container.

The straight and narrow, interpreting someone who always sticks to usual methods but would love to be a bit daring, combined sansaviera foliage and gracefully rising white iris in a tall container. A lovely splash of color was provided by a cluster of salmon pink geranium low in the design.

There was a seemingly calm person who is churning inside with all the details of daily living, with tall gladioli and encircling twisted vines emphasized.

An old item, somewhat resembling a bedpan with a handle, represented the antique hunter and her quandary of what to do with this particular gem after she has purchased it. A flower container, (what else?) holding grapevine, bright yellow iris and foliage, was very appealing. The container had been a bed warmer long ago.

The breath of spring was depicted by the lady who is always first to wear spring colors. The health addict, for the one who always keeps in shape, runs the mile, sleeps with open windows etc., carried out the theme in the lithe lines of the gracefully curved branch, a single lovely blossom and foliage.

There is always the lady who grows everything to provide contrast of texture, colors, line etc., but only has time to out cut flowers in a coffee jar. The bird watcher combined bird of paradise blossoms, willow and pine in a modern container. For the liberated lady, variegated hosta leaves were placed in a row in a long container with blue iris in a row back of these. To be totally different the blooms were cut off leaving tall narrow leaved stems extending above blooms placed at their base.

Mrs. Measamer commented on the progress of the arranging classes which have been held the past several weeks. Another class will be held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Huston in the near future.

Flower Show schedules were given out and discussed by Mrs. Howard Davies, who has extra copies. The show will be held at the regular June meeting on the 11th at First Presbyterian Church in Circleville. Five of the six artistic design classes are open only to those who have not won more than two blue ribbons. Horticulture classes are open to all.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Theodore Huston, the following guests were welcomed: Mrs. Frank N. Gans, Susan Mathiason, Mrs. Mansil Hurlburt Jr., Mrs. Ray Carroll, Betty Jane Wollam, Bernie Turner and Livia Green.

A note of thanks for cards and flowers was read from Mrs. George Swepston. On May 30, the annual carry-in luncheon and program for Garden Club of Ohio members will be held at Whetstone Park beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Pickaway Club has given a scholarship donation to Garden Club of Ohio in memory of Mrs. Charles Jolliffe. A donation to Stage's Pond Fund has been given in memory of Mrs. Clarence McAbee.

Mrs. Huston announced Pickaway Club had received awards from radio and TV for therapy during the past year. Members were urged to subscribe to National Gardener Magazine.

Mrs. Luther Bower was appointed chairman of the nominating committee for new officers with Mrs. Frank Gans and Mrs. Dean Sells also serving on the committee.

Those wishing to exhibit in the Columbus Rose Club Show on June 8 at Upper Arlington Municipal Services Center, 3600 Tremont Road, may write for rules to John Diekman, 2661 Montclair Road, Columbus 43221.

Franklin Garden Club of Columbus celebrated its 50th anniversary recently with Mrs. Emmett Barnhart as an honored guest. Pickaway Club presented Franklin Club with a gold plate commemorating the occasion. A vote of thanks was given to Pickaway Gardens for its generosity in giving members boxes of petunias. An unusual exhibit brought by Mrs. John Eshelman was a large seed cluster from the pandanus (screw pine).

A dessert course was served by the hostess committee: Mrs. James Hall, chairman; Mrs. Ralph Hovermale, Mrs. Theodore Huston, Mrs. Hulise Hayes, Mrs. William Payton and Mrs. Dean Sells. The table arrangement,

Mother-Daughter Banquet Held In Service Center

A Mother-Daughter banquet was held recently at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church with 108 mothers and daughters in attendance.

Mary Elizabeth Radcliff welcomed all attending and talked about a Japanese garden and also about the worship place. Each home in Japan has a worship center. Mrs. Patty Kirkwood led in the table grace before the evening meal. The Service Center was decorated in keeping with the Japanese theme. There was a display of fans and a hanging lantern suspended from the ceiling. There was also a very colorful display of pictures which were all made of silk.

Mrs. Lynn Mundy read "What Mother Gives" with the response given by Mrs. Dorothy Conley. Mrs. Carol Bowman sang "It's You Who Makes Me Young."

Mrs. Radcliff presented centerpieces to Mrs. Mae Ringhiser, oldest mother; Pam Noecker, youngest and Mrs. Hazel Shelton as having the largest family present. Also, receiving centerpieces were Miss Charlesa Norris and Mrs. Thelma Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Radcliff showed slides on their trip to Japan last year. They closed the evening by speaking in Japanese and translating in English, God be with you till we meet again.

Each person present received a napkin made of rice and straw and a set of Chop sticks. The ladies of the Calvary United Methodist served the meal.

Practical Nurses Honor Mothers

Licensed Practical Nurses Assn. held its annual Mother-Daughter banquet recently at Wardell's Party Home.

Charlotte Hill welcomed the guests and the response was by Pauline Jones. Ethel McFarland read the history of the first banquet held by the association in May of 1960 at First Methodist Church in Circleville. It was agreed to give $25. to the Larry Stant fund.

A planter was given to Anna Gardner, the oldest person present, and Gail Hart, the youngest mother. Door prizes were won by Pug Jackson, Joan Savage, Anna Garner, Pauline Russell, Joan Ely, Charlotte Hill and Helen Smith.

The next regular meeting will be held June 17th in the home of Ethel McFarland, Route 3.

Personals

Miss Sally Lemaster, Route 2 and Miss Mary A. Lemaster and Mr. and Mrs. William Kirk, Paul and Mark, Ashville, attended the wedding of Miss Ruby Glenn and Paul Avery on Saturday. The ceremony took place at West Virginia Bible School Chapel, Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Mrs. Marion's Class Schedules Meeting

Mrs. Marion's Class of Community United Methodist Church plans to meet 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mrs. Forrest Brown, 124 N. Scioto St.

Mrs. James Reese To Entertain Guild

Mrs. James Reese, 881 Atwater Ave., will entertain Berger Hospital Guild 45 in her home 8 p.m. Friday.

Business And Professional Women Install Officers

GUESTS—Raymond Pack, guidance supervisor for Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center, spoke to members of BPW Club and Barbara O'Shaughnessy entertained with playing her guitar and singing at a dinner meeting.

Raymond Pack, guidance supervisor for Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center, was guest speaker for the May dinner meeting of Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club held Thursday evening at Wardell's Party Home.

Mr. Pack reviewed the history and progress of the five job training programs which will represent new opportunities for high school youth of the 11 participating school districts.

A musical interlude was provided by Barbara O'Shaughnessy. Accompanying herself on the guitar she sang "Twilight Time," "Froggie Went A Courtin'" and "The Lord's Prayer."

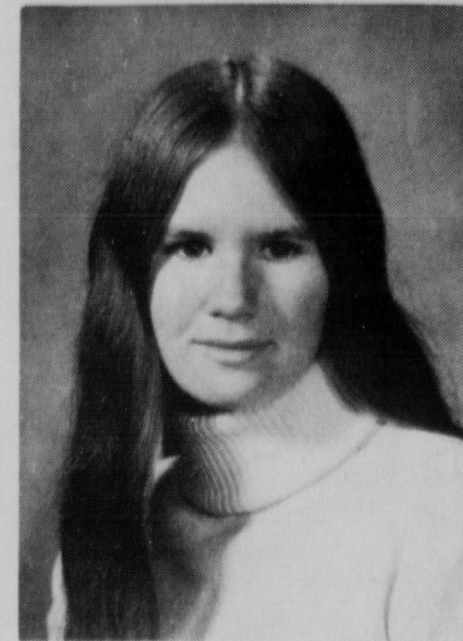

During the business portion of the evening supervised by Freda Collins, president, Kathleen Hoffman and Clarissa Talbot were appointed as an audit committee. An invitation was read to the 1st anniversary of Westerville BPW Club. Organizational advertising stickers were distributed and ways and means ideas shared.

Harriet Kaylor gave a report of Professional Standards Review Organization, Federal Law Sec. 249F-PL92-603 now in process to give government power to tell doctors how, when, where and how long to treat. Members were urged to cooperate with and to urge others to write or call senators and congressmen requesting a repeal.

Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad conducted a ceremony of initiation for Maxine Hughes and Margaret Bowers.

Assisted by Mrs. Kaylor, immediate past president, Emma Curlett installed the following officers elected to serve for the 1974-75 federation year: Freda Collins, president; Louise Hill, first vice president; Jean West, second vice president; Charlotte Hill, 35th ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hinton, 2120 Chippewa Drive, Logan Elm Village, will be honored by their children with an open house on their 35th wedding anniversary Saturday at their home. They will greet their friends between 6 and 10 p.m. Emmett Hinton and Jewell LeMaster were married June 3, 1939 at McArthur by the Rev. William Harold. The couple has two sons, James and Gerald Hinton of Circleville; two daughters, Mrs. William (Juanita) Schleich, Circleville and Judith Perry, Mt. Sterling. There are four grandsons and three granddaughters.

Mrs. Schubert Measamer Presents Arranging Program For Pickaway Garden Club

Mrs. Schubert Measamer, introduced by Mrs. Eugene Barthelmas, presented a flower arranging program entitled "Reflections" for Pickaway County Garden Club members and guests at the May meeting held at First Presbyterian Church.

She said her reflections in flowers would be of women and that each could find herself in one of the arrangements. They ranged from the always dependable to today's liberated lady.

The steadfast person was done with copper colored iris and wild mustard which picked up the color of the iris beads, placed in a low container.

The straight and narrow, interpreting someone who always sticks to usual methods but would love to be a bit daring, combined sansaviera foliage and gracefully rising white iris in a tall container. A lovely splash of color was provided by a cluster of salmon pink geranium low in the design.

There was a seemingly calm person who is churning inside with all the details of daily living, with tall gladioli and encircling twisted vines emphasized.

An old item, somewhat resembling a bedpan with a handle, represented the antique hunter and her quandary of what to do with this particular gem after she has purchased it. A flower container, (what else?) holding grapevine, bright yellow iris and foliage, was very appealing. The container had been a bed warmer long ago.

The breath of spring was depicted by the lady who is always first to wear spring colors. The health addict, for the one who always keeps in shape, runs the mile, sleeps with open windows etc., carried out the theme in the lithe lines of the gracefully curved branch, a single lovely blossom and foliage.

There is always the lady who grows everything to provide contrast of texture, colors, line etc., but only has time to cut flowers in a coffee jar.

The bird watcher combined bird of paradise blossoms, willow and pine in a modern container. For the liberated lady, variegated hosta leaves were placed in a row in a long container with blue iris in a row back of these. To be totally different the blooms were cut off leaving tall narrow leaved stems extending above blooms placed at their base.

Mrs. Measamer commented on the progress of the arranging classes which have been held the past several weeks. Another class will be held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Huston in the near future.

Flower Show schedules were given out and discussed by Mrs. Howard Davies, who has extra copies. The show will be held at the regular June meeting on the 11th at First Presbyterian Church in Circleville. Five of the six artistic design classes are open only to those who have not won more than two blue ribbons. Horticulture classes are open to all.

During the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Theodore Huston, the following guests were welcomed: Mrs. Frank N. Gans, Susan Mathiason, Mrs. Mansil Hurlburt Jr., Mrs. Ray Carroll, Betty Jane Wollam, Bernie Turner and Livia Green.

A note of thanks for cards and flowers was read from Mrs. George Swepton. On May 30, the annual carry-in luncheon and program for Garden Club of Ohio members will be held at Whetstone Park beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Pickaway Club has given a scholarship donation to Garden Club of Ohio in memory of Mrs. Charles Jolliffe. A donation to Stage's Pond Fund has been given in memory of Mrs. Clarence McAbee.

Mrs. Huston announced Pickaway Club had received awards from radio and TV for therapy during the past year. Members were urged to subscribe to National Gardener Magazine.

Mrs. Luther Bower was appointed chairman of the nominating committee for new officers with Mrs. Frank Gans and Mrs. Dean Sells also serving on the committee.

Those wishing to exhibit in the Columbus Rose Club Show on June 8 at Upper Arlington Municipal Services Center, 3600 Tremont Road, may write for rules to John Diekman, 2661 Montclair Road, Columbus 43221.

Franklin Garden Club of Columbus celebrated its 50th anniversary recently with Mrs. Emmett Barnhart as an honored guest. Pickaway Club presented Franklin Club with a gold plate commemorating the occasion.

A vote of thanks was given to Pickaway Gardens for its generosity in giving members boxes of petunias. An unusual exhibit brought by Mrs. John Eshelman was a large seed cluster from the pandanus (screw pine).

A dessert course was served by the hostess committee: Mrs. James Hall, chairman; Mrs. Ralph Hovernalle, Mrs. Theodore Huston, Mrs. Hulse Hayes, Mrs. William Payton and Mrs. Dean Sells. The table arrangement,

Mother-Daughter Banquet Held In Service Center

A Mother-Daughter banquet was held recently at Good Shepherd United Methodist Church with 108 mothers and daughters in attendance.

Mary Elizabeth Radcliff welcomed all attending and talked about a Japanese garden and also about the worship place. Each home in Japan has a worship center. Mrs. Patty Kirkwood led in the table grace before the evening meal. The Service Center was decorated in keeping with the Japanese theme. There was a display of fans and a hanging lantern suspended from the ceiling. There was also a very colorful display of pictures which were all made of silk.

Mrs. Lynn Mundy read "What Mother Gives" with the response given by Mrs. Dorothy Conley. Mrs. Carol Bowman sang "It's You Who Makes Me Young."

Mrs. Radcliff presented centerpieces to Mrs. Mae Ringhiser, oldest mother; Pam Noecker, youngest and Mrs. Hazel Shelton as having the largest family present. Also, receiving centerpieces were Miss Charlesa Norris and Mrs. Thelma Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Radcliff showed slides on their trip to Japan last year. They closed the evening by speaking in Japanese and translating in English, God be with you till we meet again.

Each person present received a napkin made of rice and straw and a set of Chop sticks. The ladies of the Calvary United Methodist served the meal.

Practical Nurses Honor Mothers

Licensed Practical Nurses Assn. held its annual Mother-Daughter banquet recently at Wardell's Party Home.

Charlotte Hill welcomed the guests and the response was by Pauline Jones. Ethel McFarland read the history of the first banquet held by the association in May of 1960 at First Methodist Church in Circleville. It was agreed to give $25. to the Larry Stant fund.

A planter was given to Anna Gardner, the oldest person present, and Gail Hart, the youngest mother. Door prizes were won by Pug Jackson, Joan Savage, Anna Garner, Pauline Russell, Joan Ely, Charlotte Hill and Helen Smith.

The next regular meeting will be held June 17th in the home of Ethel McFarland, Route 3.

Personals

Miss Sally Lemaster, Route 2 and Miss Mary A. Lemaster and Mr. and Mrs. William Kirk, Paul and Mark, Ashville, attended the wedding of Miss Ruby Glenn and Paul Avery on Saturday. The ceremony took place at West Virginia Bible School Chapel, Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Business And Professional Women Install Officers

GUESTS—Raymond Pack, guidance supervisor for Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center, spoke to members of BPW Club and Barbara O'Shaughnessy entertained with playing her guitar and singing at a dinner meeting.

Raymond Pack, guidance supervisor for Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center, was guest speaker for the May dinner meeting of Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club held Thursday evening at Wardell's Party Home.

Mr. Pack reviewed the history and progress of the five job training programs which will represent new opportunities for high school youth of the 11 participating school districts.

A musical interlude was provided by Barbara O'Shaughnessy. Accompanying herself on the guitar she sang "Twilight Time," "Froggie Went A Courtin'" and "The Lord's Prayer."

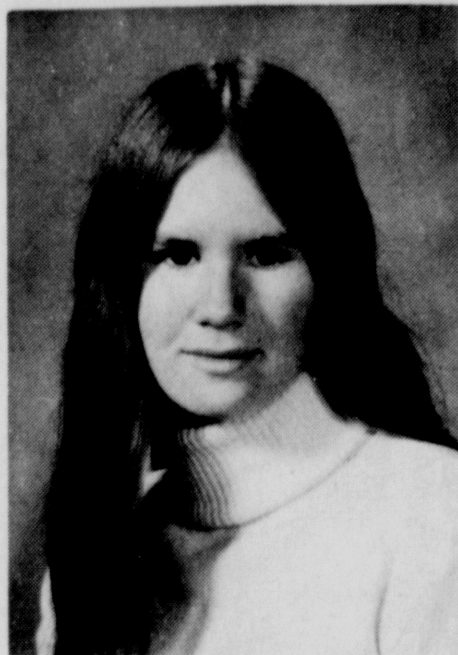

During the business portion of the evening supervised by Freda Collins, president, Kathleen Hoffman and Clarissa Talbot were appointed as an audit committee. An invitation was read to the 1st anniversary of Westerville BPW Club. Organizational advertising stickers were distributed and ways and means ideas shared.

Harriet Kaylor gave a report of Professional Standards Review Organization, Federal Law Sec. 2-49F-PL92-603 now in process to give government power to tell doctors how, when, where and how long to treat. Members were urged to cooperate with and to urge others to write or call senators and congressmen requesting a repeal.

Dr. Nancy Lu Conrad conducted a ceremony of initiation for Maxine Hughes and Margaret Bowers.

Assisted by Mrs. Kaylor, immediate past president, Emma Curlett installed the following officers elected to serve for the 1974-75 federation year: Freda Collins, president; Louise Hill, first vice president; Jean West, second vice president; Charlotte Hill,

Billy Graham Raps Tape Transcripts

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Billy Graham says the transcripts of President Nixon's conversations about Watergate are "profoundly disturbing."

"One cannot but deplore the moral tone implied in these papers," Graham said Tuesday, ending a three-week silence about the released texts he had imposed until he had time to examine them himself.

A long-time personal friend and spiritual adviser to President Nixon, Graham said that "what comes through in these tapes is not the man I have known many years. Other mutual friends have made the same observation."

But the evangelist said Nixon remains "my friend, and I have no intention of forsaking him now. Nor will I judge him as a man in totality on the basis of these relatively few hours of conversation under such severe pressure. 'But I would be neither his friend nor God's servant if I did not point out the righteousness of God's demands at such a time as this.'"

Graham telephoned his statement from his Montreat, N.C., home.

Graham said he last had spoken with Nixon about three weeks ago by telephone while conducting a crusade in Phoenix, Ariz.

He said he since has spent several days reading the White House-released text, and had "thought about it and prayed about it" before issuing his statement.

"I just wish the whole thing had never happened," he said. "We have lost our moral compass. We must get it back."

Although "we know that other presidents have used equally objectionable language—it does not make it right. 'Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain' is a commandment which has not been suspended, regardless of any need to release tensions."

Graham did not mention the Rev. John McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest on Nixon's White House staff who has defended the President's use of profanity as an outgrowth of a need to release tensions. But he used virtually the same words, and in doing so disputed McLaughlin.

GM To Fix Overheating Small Autos

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says it is responsible for engine damage caused by overheating in up to 1.3 million Chevrolet Vegas and will make needed repairs free of charge. Every Vega the company has made is involved in GM's offer.

At the same time, the auto giant disputed on Tuesday a report by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration that 441,000 GM cars might have a defect that could cause accelerators to jam. GM said it did not consider the problem, involving 1965-1968 Buicks and 1970 Cadillacs, "safety related."

The auto maker said it would offer the Vega repairs to owners who have driven their cars less than 50,000 miles and have not abused the vehicles. Normally the subcompact's aluminum engine carries a 12-month, 12,000-mile warranty.

The Vega was introduced in 1970. GM said the Vega engine is more susceptible to damage caused by overheating than conventional cast-iron engines because aluminum does not stand up to extreme heat as well.

Overheating could warp the engine block and cylinders, requiring hundreds of dollars in repairs, a Chevrolet spokesman said. He declined to estimate how much the firm expected to spend on the repairs.

The safety administration said a potential defect in two brackets in engine mounts of 1965-1968 Buick Electra 225s and Wildcats and 1970 Cadillacs with cruise control, except El Dorados, could cause the accelerators to jam.

Highway Patrol Arrests 6,457

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Patrol arrested 6,457 motorists, most of them for speeding, over the long Memorial Day weekend, it was reported today.

The patrol said the arrest total was slightly below that of a year ago.

Patrolmen also reported 7,319 assistance stops over the weekend, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ran through midnight Monday.

Clermont County Mass Transit Set

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Clermont County Commissioners said Tuesday they intend to establish mass transit in the county which abuts Cincinnati on the east.

The commission appointed an 11-member committee to study the proposal and asked help from the Ohio Division of Transportation to apply for federal funds.

March Organizes Labor Headquarters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Newly elected Ohio AFL-CIO President Milan Marsh moved into the union headquarters here Tuesday and declared that organizing for political clout in the November election was his top priority.

Marsh said there was no question the labor organization will endorse Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan for re-election.

Disagreements between the union's defeated president, Frank King, and the governor was one of the reasons Marsh teamed with AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Warren Smith to oust King during the union's convention in Cleveland last week.

Marsh said, in his opinion, the general election is the most important issue now facing union members.

"These are the people that pass the laws that affect our people," he said.

A. ADVERTISEMENT AND NOTICE FOR BIDDING

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Public Utilities until 12:00 noon local prevailing time on June 5, 1974 at the Manager's Office, 114 West Franklin Street, Circleville, Ohio.

The work for which proposals are invited consist of furnishing all labor, materials and equipment necessary to construct a water pollution control plant, under one contract, 15 ELECTRICAL WORK, in accordance with the drawings and as specified. Copies of the Contract Documents are on file and may be examined at the Manager's Office in Circleville at any time between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Contract Documents may be examined at the Columbus Builders Exchange, 1175 Dublin Road, Columbus, Ohio.

Copies of the Contract Documents may be purchased from Hazen and Sawyer, 360 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10017 for One Hundred Dollars ($100.00). This project was originally bid as a single contract on August 28, 1973. Companies that purchased a set of the original Contract Documents can purchase a copy of the Supplement to Contract Documents and a copy of all altered, modified and additional drawings from Hazen and Sawyer for Twenty-Five Dollars ($25.00).

As bid security, each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond with an approved surety company, in the amount of ten per cent (10 per cent) of the total amount of the base bid. The bidder to whom a contract is awarded will be required to furnish performance and payment bonds from an acceptable surety company in the total amount of the contract.

Bidders on this work will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order No. 11246. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order, which concerns non-discrimination in employment, are explained in the Contract Documents under Labor Standards and Requirements.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive informality and to award contracts which, in the opinion of the City, appear to be in its best interest. The right is reserved to hold any or all proposals for a period of thirty (30) days of opening thereof.

John N. Bowers,
Chairman,
Board of Public Utilities
Circleville, Ohio
May 22, 29, 1974

Marsh said the union also will focus on the election of state and federal legislative candidates as well as the governor's race.

"Everything will be done to elect those people who are sympathetic with the working man in Ohio," he said.

Smith pointed out that the union's direct support in donations to candidates is historically rather limited. "But we'll spend several hundreds of thousands of dollars organizing registration and get-out-the-vote drives," Smith said.

Marsh, without referring to the split with King, said some reorganization of the headquarters will be necessary to make the union more effective.

And Marsh, a Carpenter Union state official from Youngstown before winning the AFL-CIO presidency, said he will do the job on a fulltime basis.

King, during his 10-year tenure, converted the presidency to a fulltime position. Previously, the secretary-treasurer had been the fulltime administrator with the presidency being largely a titular position.

Deaf Mute Sent To Lima State

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — James R. Hunt, a 22-year-old deaf mute who is accused of murder, has been sent to Lima State Hospital for a determination of his competency to stand trial.

Common Pleas Court Judge Donald Ratcliff ordered the sanity evaluation during a hearing Tuesday.

Hunt, of Kingston in Ross County, is charged with the March 9 bludgeoning slaying of Ruth Arledge, 56, also of Kingston, during an alleged attempted rape.

Saltcreek Grange Meeting Scheduled

The Saltcreek Valley Grange will hold its regular business meeting on June 4, beginning at 8 p.m. Francis Fraunfelder will conduct the business meeting and Paul Dunkle will direct the program.

Refreshments will be served by the 1973 annual lunch committee following the meeting.

4 Arrested In Beating Of Deputy

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Four men accused of beating Perry County deputy sheriff Charles Kaylor were charged with felonious assault Tuesday.

The men, Roger Triplett of Somerset, and Charles Logan, 18, Charles Wheeler, 24, and Cal Wright, 49, all of Akron, are alleged to have attacked Kaylor Monday night outside the Triplett Home.

Triplett also was charged with obstructing official business and theft, for taking the deputy's pistol.

Triplett posted $5,000 bond Tuesday and was released. The other three remained in jail overnight and were to have a court hearing today.

Authorities said the incident occurred as Kaylor, 35, investigated reports of persons riding a dune buggy on U.S. 22 near Somerset.

They said Kaylor found the dune buggy at the Triplett home and was jumped and beaten as he arrived there. The deputy was in satisfactory condition at a hospital here.

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says it is responsible for engine damage caused by overheating in up to 1.3 million Chevrolet Vegas and will make needed repairs free of charge. Every Vega the company has made is involved in GM's offer.

At the same time, the auto giant disputed on Tuesday a report by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration that 441,000 GM cars might have a defect that could cause accelerators to jam. GM said it did not consider the problem, involving 1965-1968 Buicks and 1970 Cadillacs, "safety related."

The auto maker said it would offer the Vega repairs to owners who have driven their cars less than 50,000 miles and have not abused the vehicles. Normally the subcompact's aluminum engine carries a 12-month, 12,000-mile warranty.

The Vega was introduced in 1970. GM said the Vega engine is more susceptible to damage caused by overheating than conventional cast-iron engines because aluminum does not stand up to extreme heat as well.

Overheating could warp the engine block and cylinders, requiring hundreds of dollars in repairs, a Chevrolet spokesman said. He declined to estimate how much the firm expected to spend on the repairs.

The safety administration said a potential defect in two brackets in engine mounts of 1965-1968 Buick Electra 225s and Wildcats and 1970 Cadillacs with cruise control, except El Dorados, could cause the accelerators to jam.

Highway Patrol Arrests 6,457

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Patrol arrested 6,457 motorists, most of them for speeding, over the long Memorial Day weekend, it was reported today.

The patrol said the arrest total was slightly below that of a year ago.

Patrolmen also reported 7,319 assistance stops over the weekend, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ran through midnight Monday.

Clermont County Mass Transit Set

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Clermont County Commissioners said Tuesday they intend to establish mass transit in the county which abuts Cincinnati on the east.

The commission appointed an 11-member committee to study the proposal and asked help from the Ohio Division of Transportation to apply for federal funds.

March Organizes Labor Headquarters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Newly elected Ohio AFL-CIO President Milan Marsh moved into the union headquarters here Tuesday and declared that organizing for political clout in the November election was his top priority.

Marsh said there was no question the labor organization will endorse Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan for re-election.

Disagreements between the union's defeated president, Frank King, and the governor was one of the reasons Marsh teamed with AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Warren Smith to oust King during the union's convention in Cleveland last week.

Marsh said, in his opinion, the general election is the most important issue now facing union members.

"These are the people that pass the laws that affect our people," he said.

Marsh said the union also will focus on the election of state and federal legislative candidates as well as the governor's race.

"Everything will be done to elect those people who are sympathetic with the working man in Ohio," he said.

Smith pointed out that the union's direct support in donations to candidates is historically rather limited.

"But we'll spend several hundreds of thousands of dollars organizing registration and get-out-the-vote drives," Smith said.

Marsh, without referring to the split with King, said some reorganization of the headquarters will be necessary to make the union more effective.

And Marsh, a Carpenter Union state official from Youngstown before winning the AFL-CIO presidency, said he will do the job on a fulltime basis.

King, during his 10-year tenure, converted the presidency to a fulltime position. Previously, the secretary-treasurer had been the fulltime administrator with the presidency being largely a titular position.

Deaf Mute Sent To Lima State

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — James R. Hunt, a 22-year-old deaf mute who is accused of murder, has been sent to Lima State Hospital for a determination of his competency to stand trial.

Common Pleas Court Judge Donald Ratcliff ordered the sanity evaluation during a hearing Tuesday.

Hunt, of Kingston in Ross County, is charged with the March 9 bludgeoning slaying of Ruth Arledge, 56, also of Kingston, during an alleged attempted rape.

Saltcreek Grange Meeting Scheduled

The Saltcreek Valley Grange will hold its regular business meeting on June 4, beginning at 8 p.m. Francis Fraunfelder will conduct the business meeting and Paul Dunkle will direct the program.

Refreshments will be served by the 1973 annual lunch committee following the meeting.

4 Arrested In Beating Of Deputy

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Four men accused of beating Perry County deputy sheriff Charles Kaylor were charged with felonious assault Tuesday.

The men, Roger Triplett of Somerset, and Charles Logan, 18, Charles Wheeler, 24, and Cal Wright, 49, all of Akron, are alleged to have attacked Kaylor Monday night outside the Triplett home.

Triplett also was charged with obstructing official business and theft, for taking the deputy's pistol.

Triplett posted $5,000 bond Tuesday and was released. The other three remained in jail overnight and were to have a court hearing today.

Authorities said the incident occurred as Kaylor, 35, investigated reports of persons riding a dune buggy on U.S. 22 near Somerset.

They said Kaylor found the dune buggy at the Triplett home and was jumped and beaten as he arrived there. The deputy was in satisfactory condition at a hospital here.

Decision Delayed On Milk Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says no decision has been made on a request for a public hearing on a proposal to set a minimum price floor to compute the price of milk sold under federal marketing orders.

A spokesman said Tuesday no action had been taken on the request by the National Federation of Milk Producers and that no announcement is likely until late this week at the earliest.

The proposal, filed by the federation with USDA on May 10, calls for a floor of $8.15 per 100 pounds to be used in a formula based on the price of milk sold for manufacturing dairy products in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Under the formula, the so-called "M-W" price series is used as a basis for setting minimum prices of Class I or bottling-grade milk in federal marketing orders. The formula uses an M-W price average of two months earlier, meaning that Class I minimums now in effect are based on M-W averages for March.

Two months ago, M-W manufacturing milk averaged $8.15 per hundredweight. But the April average, which will be used for setting Class I formula price minimums in June, dropped to $7.73 per hundredweight, meaning that Class I producers will be guaranteed less next month.

The federation asked that the March rate of $8.15 be set as a floor beginning June 1 and lasting through March 31, 1975, the close of the current milk marketing year. The hearing was asked to talk over the proposal.

Federation officials also asked, as they have before, that Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz use his authority to raise the federal price support of manufacturing-grade milk to 90 per cent of parity from the current level of 80 per cent.

That would have the effect of boosting manufacturing milk supports from $6.57 per hundredweight now to $7.47 per 100 pounds. The higher guarantees are needed, says the federation, to forestall any further financial squeezes on dairy farmers.

In its current newsletter to members, the milk federation says its proposal for a 90 per cent level has picked up support from a number of members of Congress who have written Butz to take quick action.

Boy To Graduate From School At Tender Young Age Of 12

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Monday is the big day for Frederick Keith Wamsley. He'll graduate from Parkersburg High School.

And at the age of 12, that's no mean accomplishment.

As the youngest graduate in the school's 100-year history, young Wamsley says he hopes to spend the summer "goofing off at home and visiting relatives in different parts of the country."

Since 1970, Frederick has spent three days a week in nearby Athens, Ohio, doing work in mathematics, physics, Russian, psychology, logic and electronics at Ohio University.

This year was his first attending regular classes at Parkersburg High School.

The youth's mother, Mrs. H. K. Wamsley, had praise for the Parkersburg school system.

"This is the seventh year of a specially-designed program to meet special needs. It is a great compliment to the school system that they were flexible enough to provide the freedom and opportunity," she said.

Although he has made no specific plans for the coming school year, Frederick says he may attend classes at both Ohio University and Parkersburg Community College. At any rate, he will continue to live at home.

Electronics is his main hobby, but he also enjoys reading. "I try to make a hobby out of ignoring my alarm clock," he says.

Young Wamsley does have regrets about leaving high school after just one year and says he would like to spend another one there, primarily to meet people.

His father, a West Virginia University graduate, is an engineer for Borg-Warner Co. His mother, a graduate of Louisiana State University, says she is "a joyfully unliberated wife and mother."

Computers Replace Tabletops In U.S. Navy War Games

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — In an attempt to make war games more realistic, the U.S. Naval War College is replacing its traditional tabletop method of fighting battles with computers and movie projectors. And sometimes even politicians.

War games are regarded as the cheapest possible way to discover and demonstrate faulty combat decisions, and the new methods being tried here make the center a trailblazer in that area, says Capt. Don Henderson, director of the college's war gaming center.

Since politicians often are looking over the shoulders of military men, politics was injected into a recent exercise.

Henderson said top-level State Department employees acted as umpires in the game and controlled the escalation of involvement, "to the complete frustration of the military commanders."

"It was so realistic; the end result was it helped reach the objectives of gaming completely," he said.

In a dark room at the war gaming center, combat situations are plotted on a large movie screen using 48 projectors along with hand drawings and paste-on cutouts.

A computer tallies the damages and determines the weapons strengths, courses and speeds of ships and aircraft involved.

The huge movie screen also is used for re-enactments of famous naval battles of history. Actual films are spliced into the presentation on a small side screen. Sound effects and flashing lights depict volleys and direct hits.

The games include combat situations ranging from a single aircraft against a submarine to a major conflict between nations involving decisions by fleet commands and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The center is developing a digital computer system to let many more high-speed combatants take part at once to add more realism to the exercises, Henderson said.

Mayor Ordered Out Of Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Mayor Dale E. Bordner of Grandview Heights has been ordered out of office by the 10th District State Court of Appeals. The appeals court declared Tuesday Bordner's job with the Ohio Water Development Authority is public employment, and is in violation of the city's charter.

The ruling is the latest in a dispute that began last summer.

Reynoldsburg Worker Killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Randall Henry, 18, of Reynoldsburg, was killed Tuesday when buried under pulverized brickmaking material while working in a silo at the Claycraft Co.

Company officials said Henry had lowered himself by rope into the silo to keep the material moving through attached machinery. The rope apparently was too long, they said, and Henry slipped under six to eight feet of material.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

Ohio will soon have a law regulating abortions. The House concurred in Senate amendments to its bill and it now goes to the Governor for his signature.

The bill gives Ohio its first regulations concerning abortion since the United States Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional many states anti-abortion laws in January of 1973.

Major provisions of the abortion bill include:

Prohibition against court-ordered abortions. Parental or guardian consent is required before a minor could obtain an abortion. Consent of the mother required before any abortion can be performed.

Provides protection for any fetus that may be born alive during the course of an abortion by requiring that under penalty of law all steps must be taken to insure that life be sustained, all hospitals would be permitted to refuse to perform an abortion. Provides that medical personnel who refuse to take part in an abortion operation cannot be reprimanded. A ban against the use of local or state funds for abortion not performed to save the life of the mother. Technical and administrative regulations will be written by the Ohio Public Health council. The regulations will be restricted to post-operative procedures, reporting of abortions, counseling of patient, and disposal of the fetus.

To be eligible, homeowners must become 65 years of age or older sometime during 1974, reside in the homestead, and earn with their spouse, not more than $10,000 annually. Persons with incomes of more than $10,000 per year are not eligible for the tax exemption at this time, and the income figure covers income from all sources including pension payments and Social Security benefits.

Funds to finance the Homestead Exemption come in large part from the state's personal income tax and the counties are reimbursed by the Auditor of State for the total amount of the tax reduction.

An information service to aid local governments and state agencies has been established by the Ohio Department of Administrative Services.

Statistical data will now be available in one central location to avoid duplication and facilitate researching.

Information on population, employment, health, education, vital statistics, welfare, juvenile offenses, local government finances, census population and housing population, and other areas will be collected by the center.

Routine inquiries will be handled without charge, but time-consuming projects will be billed on an actual cost basis.

The center will be located in the new State Office Tower in Columbus (614-466-8551).

June 3, is the deadline for Ohio senior citizens to file for a Homestead Tax Exemption. Presently, Homestead Exemptions applications, which are filed with various county auditors, must be made annually.

Over 200,000 of Ohio's homeowners age 65 and over are receiving an estimated $33 million in real property tax relief on their 1973 tax bills. The average annual property tax reduction for 1973 under the exemption was $129 per homestead.

President Sees Better Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon sent Congress Tuesday a special economic report predicting that the surge in inflation should subside to about seven per cent in the last quarter of this year.

In the past three months the cost of living increase has been at an annual rate of 12.1 per cent, the highest level since 1951.

The President, following up on a weekend radio address, told Congress he sees "signs of improvement" in the economic outlook and added:

"Although the recent events are not conclusive they tend to strengthen the expectation that in the remainder of this year, output will be rising more rapidly, prices will be rising much less rapidly and the unemployment rate, while it will probably rise further, will not reach a very high point before it recedes."

Class Action Ruling Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that plaintiffs in so-called class actions suits, used increasingly in recent years by environmental and consumer groups, must individually notify at their own expense each member of the class on whose behalf they are suing.

The court agreed in substance with the findings of the U.S. Circuit Court in New York, which specialists in class action suits have said would put almost insurmountable obstacles in their path.

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting in part from the court's decision, said the class action suit "is one of the few legal remedies the small claimant has against those who command the status quo."

Educational TV Series Set June 3

The second round of the television series "Your Future Is Now" starts June 3, on WOSU-TV, Channel 34 in Columbus and WPBO-TV, Channel 42 in Portsmouth. This gives prospective students of the televised high school equivalency program another opportunity to enroll. Two lessons, are televised each week and repeated at least twice each week thereby permitting the student his choice of viewing times.

The program "Your Future Is Now" is a series of 60 thirty-minute telelessons designed to prepare the student to take the General Development Tests (GED) through which the high school equivalency certificate is granted. Anyone who is at least 19 years of age, who has been out of school for at least one year, and whose high school class has been graduated is eligible to take the tests. Three study guides to be used in conjunction with the telecasts can be obtained by sending $10 to FUTURE, 2400 Olentangy River Road, Columbus, Ohio 43210.

Courses will include 26 lessons in social studies, science and literature; 17 lessons in grammar, usage, spelling and vocabulary; and 17 lessons in mathematics. All in all, "Your Future Is Now" will be telecast so that a student viewer can now start and see a whole sequence several times over the next 12 months.

Sponsored by The Ohio State Board of Education, the program will offer the public an opportunity to replenish their skills bank and prepare for that outreach to a better future.

Decision Delayed On Milk Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says no decision has been made on a request for a public hearing on a proposal to set a minimum price floor to compute the price of milk sold under federal marketing orders.

A spokesman said Tuesday no action had been taken on the request by the National Federation of Milk Producers and that no announcement is likely until late this week at the earliest.

The proposal, filed by the federation with USDA on May 10, calls for a floor of $8.15 per 100 pounds to be used in a formula based on the price of milk sold for manufacturing dairy products in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Under the formula, the so-called "M-W" price series is used as a basis for setting minimum prices of Class I or bottling-grade milk in federal marketing orders. The formula uses an M-W price average of two months earlier, meaning that Class I minimums now in effect are based on M-W averages for March.

Two months ago, M-W manufacturing milk averaged $8.15 per hundredweight. But the April average, which will be used for setting Class I formula price minimums in June, dropped to $7.73 per hundredweight, meaning that Class I producers will be guaranteed less next month.

The federation asked that the March rate of $8.15 be set as a floor beginning June 1 and lasting through March 31, 1975, the close of the current milk marketing year. The hearing was asked to talk over the proposal.

Federation officials also asked, as they have before, that Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz use his authority to raise the federal price support of manufacturing-grade milk to 90 per cent of parity from the current level of 80 per cent.

That would have the effect of boosting manufacturing milk supports from $6.57 per hundredweight now to $7.47 per 100 pounds. The higher guarantees are needed, says the federation, to forestall any further financial squeezes on dairy farmers.

Computers Replace Tabletops In U.S. Navy War Games

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — In an attempt to make war games more realistic, the U.S. Naval War College is replacing its traditional tabletop method of fighting battles with computers and movie projectors. And sometimes even politicians.

War games are regarded as the cheapest possible way to discover and demonstrate faulty combat decisions, and the new methods being tried here make the center a trailblazer in that area, says Capt. Don Henderson, director of the college's war gaming center.

The regulations will be restricted to post-operative procedures, reporting of abortions, counseling of patient, and disposal of the fetus.

June 3, is the deadline for Ohio senior citizens to file for a Homestead Tax Exemption. Presently, Homestead Exemptions applications, which are filed with various county auditors, must be made annually.

Over 200,000 of Ohio's homeowners age 65 and over are receiving an estimated $33 million in real property tax relief on their 1973 tax bills. The average annual property tax reduction for 1973 under the exemption was $129 per homestead.

President Sees Better Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon sent Congress Tuesday a special economic report predicting that the surge in inflation should subside to about seven per cent in the last quarter of this year.

In the past three months the cost of living increase has been at an annual rate of 12.1 per cent, the highest level since 1951.

The President, following up on a weekend radio address, told Congress he sees "signs of improvement" in the economic outlook and added:

"Although the recent events are not conclusive they tend to strengthen the expectation that in the remainder of this year, output will be rising more rapidly, prices will be rising much less rapidly and the unemployment rate, while it will probably rise further, will not reach a very high point before it recedes."

Class Action Ruling Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that plaintiffs in so-called class actions suits, used increasingly in recent years by environmental and consumer groups, must individually notify at their own expense each member of the class on whose behalf they are suing.

The court agreed in substance with the findings of the U.S. Circuit Court in New York, which specialists in class action suits have said would put almost insurmountable obstacles in their path.

Justice William O. Douglas, dissenting in part from the court's decision, said the class action suit "is one of the few legal remedies the small claimant has against those who command the status quo."

To be eligible, homeowners must become 65 years of age or older sometime during 1974, reside in the homestead, and earn with their spouse, not more than $10,000 annually. Persons with incomes of more than $10,000 per year are not eligible for the tax exemption at this time, and the income figure covers income from all sources including pension payments and Social Security benefits.

Funds to finance the Homestead Exemption come in large part from the state's personal income tax and the counties are reimbursed by the Auditor of State for the total amount of the tax reduction.

An information service to aid local governments and state agencies has been established by the Ohio Department of Administrative Services.

Statistical data will now be available in one central location to avoid duplication and facilitate researching. Information on population, employment, health, education, vital statistics, welfare, juvenile offenses, local government finances, census population and housing population, and other areas will be collected by the center.

Routine inquiries will be handled without charge, but time-consuming projects will be billed on an actual cost basis.

The center will be located in the new State Office Tower in Columbus (614-466-8551).

If Streaking Offends

DEAR ABBY: You hear so much about how terrible the young people are, but how about the adults?

This new streaking fad is being encouraged by people who are old enough to know better. You can't pick up a newspaper without reading about a streaker. And everyone thinks it's something to laugh about.

Well, last week my 43-year-old husband went to take his usual shower before dinner, when all of a sudden we heard the shower door bang, and in nothing flat here comes my husband running completely naked past me, our teen-aged daughter and two teen-aged sons! He ran through the living room, dining room, kitchen and back to the bedroom. He thought he was being funny. I was furious, and the children were too shocked to say anything.

What do you think about this streaking business?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: I think that there is so much to cry about today, that streaking is part of the "anything-for-a-laugh" syndrome. For my part, if something I didn't want to see more of came into view, I'd quickly close my eyes.

DEAR ABBY: I am doing time in a federal penitentiary, and have noticed that you seem to have a sympathetic feeling toward prisoners.

I won't go into my history because it would take up your whole column, but I do have a favor to ask of you. I want to study the Bible, but I don't have one. Could you please send me one? I am a Christian. I am not begging, I can pay for it a little at a time. I am black and male, if that matters.

FOUR YEARS TO GO

DEAR FOUR: Your color doesn't matter, but your sex does because I have a friend in Dallas, Tex., who will send a red Bible to any man in prison who wants one, and a white Bible to every female inmate. It comes with instructions on how to study, and it's free. His name is Chaplain Ray. Send me your complete address and I'll do the rest. God bless.

DEAR ABBY: The following story is almost identical to the one described by Loved and Lost, which recently appeared in your column. Only the ending is different. I think it's worth printing.

Mature man in his 40s meets younger charming woman in her 20s. She's sexy, charming, vivacious, etc. A serious emotional involvement follows. After a six months hidden passionate affair the man leaves his wife of 16 years and several wonderful children. He begins a new "heavenly" life with the younger woman and after one year he finds that she is selfish, moody, materialistic, arrogant and possessive. The situation becomes intolerable, and the love affair is over.

All this time my ex-wife had been getting counseling to help her over this painful experience. I asked if we could try again and this magnificent woman took me back with dignity and nobility. For her the whole miserable episode never happened, and she refuses to hear one word about it.

Conclusion: There are still women who hold the home and family above their own pride.

4 Children Tortured

NEW YORK (AP) — Police say four young children were tortured and imprisoned with their mother for months by a man who in one instance put one of the youngsters in a lighted oven.

Sotero Vasquez, 33, was arrested Monday.

Police quoted the mother, Olga Ramos, 27, as saying her 7-year-old boy made a noise Monday morning that awoke Vasquez who then put the boy into the lighted oven. She said she came running into the room and pulled the boy out.

Vasquez kept the apartment padlocked and the windows nailed shut, but he forgot to fasten the padlock after leaving Monday and Mrs. Ramos escaped and summoned police, authorities said.

Vasquez was charged with attempted murder, reckless endangerment, endangering the welfare of children, unlawful imprisonment and possession of a dangerous instrument.

8 Counties Receive Tax Rollback Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Eight counties were sent a total of $1,173,713 for first half 1973 property tax rollback reimbursements, state Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said Tuesday.

The counties which received the funds to replace lost local tax revenue through the granting of 10 per cent property tax rollbacks to homeowners on first half 1973 tax bills were Jefferson, Ashland, Holmes, Brown, Jackson, Monroe, Pike and Noble.

School Lobbies At Odds Over Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two big school lobbies are at odds over a bill establishing the rights of students suspended or expelled because of disruptive conduct.

Both groups agree on the principle, they say. But, they strongly disagree on procedural questions—hearings for students and teachers, makeup work and areas of jurisdiction among others.

Some decisions must be made soon if the bill is to be acted on by the General Assembly this year. Lawmakers are making plans to adjourn in the next two or three weeks.

On behalf of teachers, the Ohio Education Association wants the bill out of the House Rules Committee this week in an effort to get it through the House and Senate in the few legislative days remaining.

Principals of the state's secondary and elementary schools, through their respective lobbyists, would be just as happy to see the issue carried over until the legislature meets again next year.

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, introduced the measure following a U.S. Supreme Court decision (Lopez V. Williams) which said in effect that students are entitled to due process and may not be summarily expelled or suspended without a hearing.

There have been similar rulings by state courts as well, including one in Lucas County.

Speck introduced the bill April 18, 1973, but it wasn't recommended by the House Judiciary Committee until two weeks ago. Speck said that time was required "to give all parties ample opportunity for some input."

The bill provides prior notice to students of pending suspensions or expulsions. It allows emergency removal of a student from a class by a teacher, adoption of rules by the state and local boards of education, prohibits imposition of academic penalties for expulsion or suspension and requires establishment of academic programs by local boards for students suspended more than 10 days.

Over denials and objections of the OEA, school principals claim makeup work for suspended or expelled students has "no legal basis" and that provisions for hearings demanded by teachers are against the intent of the bill.

"The teacher may be the party at fault," they say.

The principals also assert there is no consideration given to state minimum standards for makeup work and no money to pay for it.

The bill has other shortcomings, the principals claim, including unclear areas of jurisdiction.

The state associations of secondary and elementary principals stated their objections in a letter that went out last week to their members throughout the state.

John Hall, assistant executive secretary of the OEA, disputed the principals' claims almost point by point.

To carry out "due process" to its full meaning, he said, "the students should have a guarantee that their academic standard can be maintained."

Hall said teachers should have the right to remove a student disrupting his class when the student is making a disturbance.

"The bill retains the right of the school administrator to suspend or expel students," he said.

Hall said teachers should have the right to demand hearings, not for the defense of the teacher "but to get the parents brought into the situation."

The OEA official went on to say the teacher needs the right to remove a disruptive student for two days as the bill provides "without having the principal throw him right back into the classroom."

Hall said "classroom teachers should be able to handle serious disturbances and to initiate conferences set up by the principals which will include the parents."

Ashbrook Blasts Loan To Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, has criticized a loan of $180 million from the U.S. Export-Import Bank to the Soviet Union to finance construction of a fertilizer manufacturing complex.

"If the taxpayers are to help subsidize any fertilizer plant, it should be right here in America, not in the Soviet Union," the congressman said.

He said farmers in Ohio and throughout the nation are caught in a fertilizer shortage as it is.

Gas Bill To Reflect Cost Adjustments

Columbia Gas of Ohio customers in the Circleville area and elsewhere in Ohio will find it easier to keep track of changes in the price they pay for gas beginning next month.

Calvin Danford, manager for the gas company in the Circleville area, said that, beginning June 6, each month's gas bill will contain a statement as to how much that particular bill has been adjusted to reflect increases and decreases in the price Columbia Gas of Ohio must pay its suppliers for gas.

The gas company is authorized to adjust its rates to reflect changes it must pay its wholesale suppliers for gas through provisions of a Purchased Gas Adjustment Clause included in its contract with the local community by ordinance, or added by order of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. Danford said the additional information is being included on monthly bills as an additional service to customers to keep them up-to-date on fluctuations in gas costs.

Danford said the only change in the appearance of the bill will be the addition of a line reading "Includes gas cost adjustment of (cents) per Ccf", reflecting the adjustment in effect that month per 100 cubic feet of gas used. By multiplying the number of Ccf (100 cubic feet) of gas used—which is shown on the top line of the bill — by this figure, the customer can determine the part of the total bill covered by changes in the cost of purchased gas.

Comparing the "gas cost adjustment per Ccf" figure on the current month's bill with the corresponding figure on the previous month's bill also will show any change in the cost of purchased gas that month, Danford said.

LE Student Receives Crisco Award

TERESA KARSHNER

Teresa Karshner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Karshner of Route 1, Laurelville, received the Crisco Award for her outstanding work in home economics at Logan Elm High School's annual Awards Day, May 14.

The silver plaque was presented to Miss Karshner, a senior at Logan Elm High School, by the home economics instructor, Mrs. Judy Sims. In presenting the Crisco Award, Mrs. Sims congratulated Teresa on the excellence she has shown in her work and said she "felt certain her achievement in home economics would be a lasting inspiration to other students".

Teresa majored in home economics at Logan Elm High and plans to continue her studies at Hocking Technical School in the field of nursing.

Williamsport CCCU To Present Movie

The Williamsport Church of Christ in Christian Union will present a movie entitled, "To Russia With Love", 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The movie, filmed in Russia, shows Underground Evangelism workers distributing Bibles to Christians in Communist countries.

A free-will offering for the purchasing of Bibles will be received at the close of the service.

Norval Shepard, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Youth Grange To Attend Church

Members of the Pickaway County Grange Youth will attend worship services at the Calvary United Methodist Church Sunday morning at 9 a.m.

Following the services, the group will be guests of Randy Wolfe who will serve brunch and host the business meeting of the group.

Conducting the meeting will be Bonnie Bolender and Bob and Diana Lands. Business to be considered will be the fair booth and the national contests of the youth department.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain fell on all parts of Ohio during the night and the prospects are for frequent thundershowers over the state Wednesday with likelihood of some localized flooding.

The National Weather Service said warnings have been issued to small boaters of briefly high winds with thundershowers over Lake Erie.

The rains during the night were generally light, 0.16 inches at Toledo being the heaviest.

The Weather Service said there is a very complex trough of low pressure on the morning weather map from the lower Great Lakes to the central plains states. This will sink slowly southward tonight becoming stationary through the Ohio Valley Thursday.

Temperatures were generally in the lower 60s Wednesday morning although they dipped into the upper 50s in a few areas. Readings in the 70s and lower 80s will predominate this afternoon. On Thursday northern counties will be noticeably cooler, reflecting the inflow of air off the cool Lake Erie.

Seek Support On Welfare Pay

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan should actively support a bill to raise the pay of 82,000 county welfare, state and non-academic state university employees, the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association says. The OCSEA's Dist. 6 president, Walter Kyle, said in a statement "the pay bill is a hot issue with public employees, and we are upset with the Gilligan administration for not supporting it."

The OCSEA called on Gilligan in a letter to endorse legislative efforts to boost employee pay by 31 cents an hour.

Chief Protests Girls State Policy

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)— Middletown Police Chief James Howerton, irate over an American Legion Auxiliary policy barring handicapped girls from participation in Girls State, has mailed in his paid-up Legion membership card.

Howerton, a former Legion local commander, also wrote a letter of protest to National American Legion Commander Robert E. L. Eaton of Indianapolis, Ind.

Howerton said he took the action after reading an Associated Press report May 24 that the auxiliary did not intend to change its policy for this year's "Democracy in Action" program June 15-23 at Capital University in Columbus. A Columbus school teacher had urged that the ban on handicapped girls be lifted.

"As a member of the American Legion," Howerton wrote, "I am returning my paid-up membership card as a symbol of protest in behalf of those who cannot protest on their own. "If the present policy is allowed to stand, I do not wish my membership card returned, but I have enough confidence in the American Legion to believe that you will not let this injustice continue."

An auxiliary spokesman explained that handicapped girls would not be able to keep up with other girls in the weeklong exercise in government.

Howerton also protested that "we, as an organization, can condone excluding a child with sightless eyes, twisted limbs or unhearing ears from participating in our form of democracy."

"That we can say that the Constitution for which we fought to preserve does not apply to you because your body is not perfect, and we cannot take the extra time to push your wheelchair or guide you through an unlighted room.

"That we have reached that point in our society where compassion has been replaced with indifference."

"I would remind you," Howerton wrote Eaton, "that many of our own are handicapped because they believed strongly enough in our form of government that every person has the right to reach for the brightest star in the heaven—even if it is from a wheelchair, and the right to reach for that star should not be denied to anyone."

Recount Sought

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— Barry Wilkes, who lost the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Ohio 8th District, has asked for a recount. Wilkes lost to T. Edward Strinko 8,813 to 8,641, a difference of 172 votes.

The recount will cost $10 for each of Butler County's 408 precincts.

Report Rebozo Cash Aided Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Columnist Jack Anderson reported Tuesday that President Nixon's close friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo in 1969 paid nearly $12,000 in improvements at the President's home in Key Biscayne, Fla.

In his column, Anderson wrote that an Aug. 6, 1969, check for $11,978.84, signed by Rebozo and drawn on his personal account went to pay for electrical, air conditioning and painting work on Nixon's bayside home, adjacent to one Rebozo owned.

Anderson quoted reliable sources as saying Rebozo also paid for a swimming pool, a pool table and architectural services for the Nixon home.

Teenage Pageant Scheduled

THE DEADLINE for receiving applications in our office for the 3rd annual Miss Ohio Teen Ager Pageant has been set for June 10, 1974. Those who already have applications, should return them immediately. Any interested young ladies desiring to enter this year's pageant may obtain applications from the Official Certification Office, P. O. Box 406, Rockton, Illinois 61072. The annual event will be held on July 12 and 13 at the Sheraton in Cleveland.

The Ohio Pageant is open to all girls residing in the state between the ages of 13 and 17 with Judging based on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality, and appearance. In addition, state contestants are required to write an essay on What's Right About America to be presented at the State Finals and the top three winners will receive special awards. There will be no talent or swim suit competition.

The Current Miss Ohio Teen Ager is Jean McGowan of West Carrollton. The Ohio State Pageant is a preliminary to our National Teen Ager Pageant Finals. Each state winner participates in the National Finals held in Atlanta, Georgia, receiving an all expense paid six day trip with various tours of points of interest.

Miss Betty Nightingale of Fort Fairfield, Maine, is the current Miss National Teen Ager. Each state winner receives a $750 scholarship to Massey Jr. College in Atlanta, Georgia, with first runner up receiving a $500 scholarship and the second runner up receiving a $250 scholarship to the same school.

Judges named to date are Edward H. Cothran, Bruce Hagins, Miss Barbara Jean Coffie, Walter E. Marnell, Mrs. Harold Isaacs, Mrs. Ross Barnes, George Sudhouse, Jerry Hedean and Louis P. Hehman.

Police Probe To Be Wide, Perk Asserts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland's probe of charges of police corruption will extend to reform of the whole safety force, Mayor Ralph J. Perk said Tuesday.

"They are looking at the fire department, the Warrensville Workhouse, and anything related to the safety department," Perk said of his crime commission.

"There is a great deal of inefficiency caused by the fire department work schedules where they work 24 hours and are off 48," the mayor said.

"It was their decision to work on reform instead of investigation," Perk said. "The God Squad will have absolute authority to move in whatever way they feel is necessary."

Mrs. John E. Manning, crime commission secretary, said there have been four or five meetings since she was appointed April 4.

But Lindsey Cowen, dean of the Case Western Reserve University Law School, said reform had not been discussed at any of the meetings he had attended. Cowen also was appointed April 4.

The commission was dubbed the God Squad after Perk originally constituted it with five clergymen.

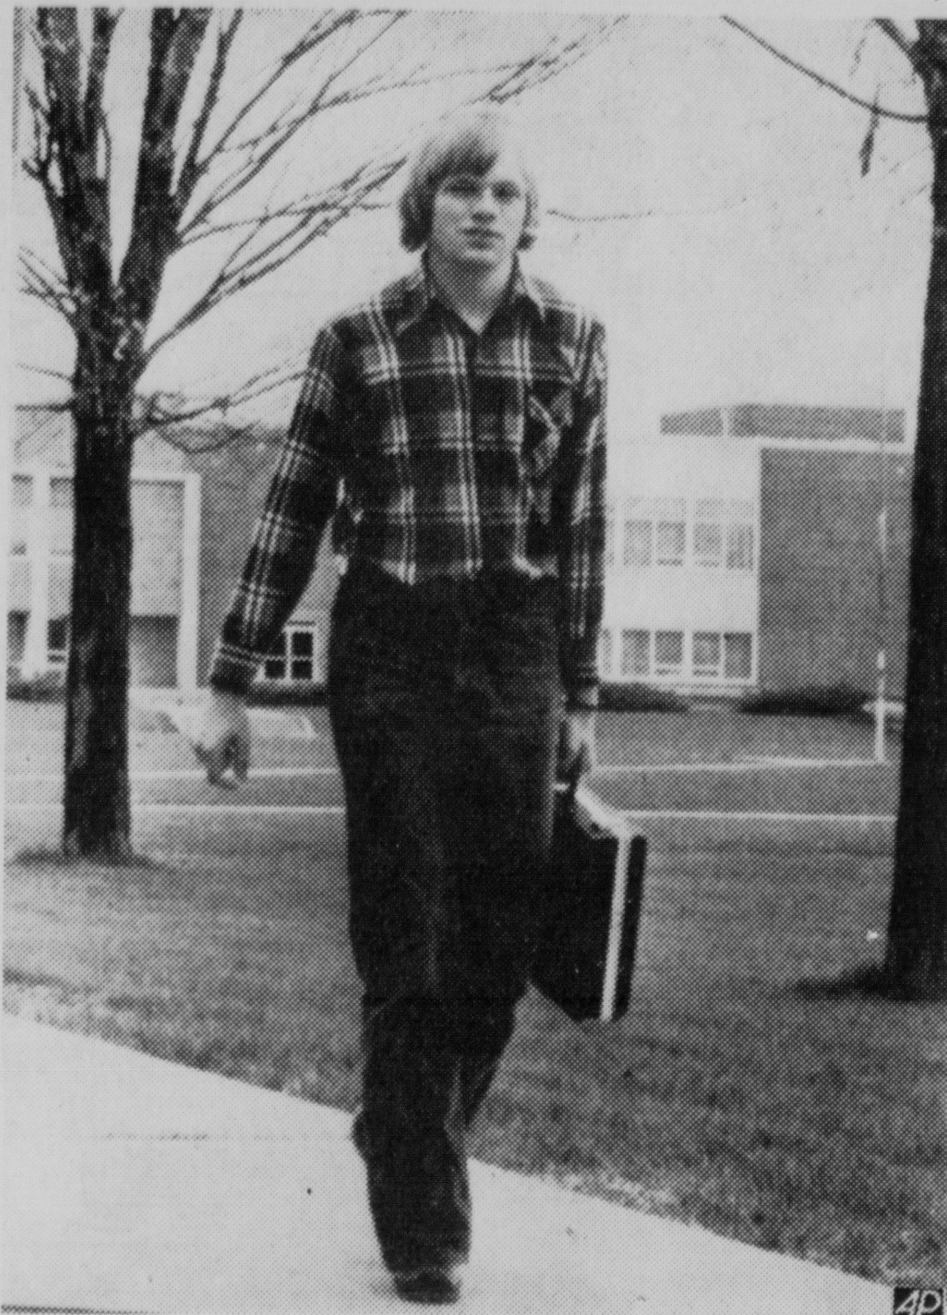

Council leaders have pledged support of legislative changes, including those requiring votes by the electorate.

Council President George L. Forbes has said reforms will be at least partly implemented by the council's summer recess July 7.

Sandra Curry To Graduate

Sandra Curry, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Curry, Route 2, Circleville, will graduate from the Ohio School for the Deaf, Columbus, at the school's commencement exercises, June 7.

Miss Curry entered the Ohio School for the Deaf in 1962. She has been active in sports and Girl Scouts.

QUICK COURSE—John Kirkeide, 18, takes one of his last walks across the North Dakota State University campus. Kirkeide will graduate after spending one year at the University. He says a speed reading course he took in high school helped him to earn his college degree in one year.

Controlling Board Releases Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new supplier for paper for state lottery tickets was approved Tuesday by the State Controlling Board, watchdog of state spending.

The board allowed the Department of Administrative Services to make an agreement with a Columbus firm — Brewer, Chilcote Co. — for 190,000 pounds of the special safety paper at a cost of $68,484.

A department spokesman said the previous contract holder, Globe Ticket Co., hadn't been able to find the paper and canceled the contract.

Although the tickets have yet to be printed, the department said plans to put them on sale in July and have the first drawing in August would not be delayed.

The board also released more than $4.4 million for higher education, practically all of it earmarked for construction projects.

Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, questioned why 22 requests from higher education came in at the same time.

Board of Regents finance officer Henry Whitcomb said the regents review all requests at their own meeting and then send them to the next control board session.

Among major requests approved by the board:

Freshmen Train In FFA Program

The Logan Elm Chapter of Future Farmers of America met Tuesday for the monthly meeting.

Topics included summer meetings, sale of chain quilts, ganquet and a summer trip.

The chapter is scheduling a tractor training program for the freshmen in the Logan Elm FFA.

The training includes backing a manure spreader between stakes with about two inches clearance on each side. The spreader will be taken out the same way and through an obstacle course. The same thing is done to a four bottom plow.

The final task is to back a gravity bed wagon between four stakes.

—$665,276 for architectural fees, engineering fees, contingencies and moveable equipment for Hocking Technical College.

—$574,409 from the emergency fund to cover increased payroll costs from implementing a pay raise bill for state employees based on the consumer price index.

—$197,746 to the Department of Education as the state's share of reimbursement for purchase of 50 school buses.

—$308,539 to Ohio University for air conditioning of Bently Hall.

—$2,350,000 to Wright State University for phase two of completion of its biological sciences building.

—$226,286 to Youngstown State University for the balance of architectural fees and planning funds on its classroom-faculty office building.

—$91 to Gallipolis State Institute for architect's fees for a food service facility project.

Street Lights Hit By Landslides

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Continuing landslides on the north side of Columbia Parkway, which overlooks the Ohio River, prompted the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. to ask the city for permission to move street lights to the south side of the street. City Manager E. Robert Turner said the move would cost the city about $8,000.

Ask Authority To Lease Space

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati City Manager E. Robert Turner asked city council for authority to lease space in the Cincinnati Technical College on a regular basis to house the Cincinnati Police Academy. Ohio earlier purchased the school, formerly Courter Technical High School, to establish the vocational school.

The police school has been operating on a temporary base at the college since 1972.

Laurelville Alumni Banquet Held

Class members and their guests totaling 162 gathered at the school cafeteria on Saturday evening May 18th, to enjoy the Laurelville High school Alumni banquet. After registering at the door every one was seated at tables decorated with the school colors, also the colors of the honored class of 1949, blue and gold.

The class of 1924 which was also honored was seated at a table decorated with their class colors of scarlet and gray. Posters bearing each of the honored class mottos hung near their tables. The theme of the evening was "The Year of Shortages" and was carried out in the program back which were made from gayly colored wallpaper samples.

Mrs. Mary Rose gave the invocation preceding dinner. The business session and program was presided over by the president, Jack Barnes. The treasurer and secretary's reports

Unveil Plan For Alcohol, Drug Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction reports a federally-funded program to treat inmates with alcohol and drug problems will get underway this week at the Marion Correctional Institution.

Sixteen inmates with drug-related problems will be transferred to a newly-remodeled dormitory to participate in Project Papillon, the agency said Tuesday.

Eventually the project, which involves collective treatment, will be expanded to include 100 of the prison's 1,100 inmates, the department said.

The federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration provided $90,000 last fall to plan for the project and turned over another $215,000 last month to run it for 15 months.

Clyde Scott, the project's director, said the focus will be on treatment of social and psychological difficulties that led to dependence on drugs or alcohol.

Scott said the inmates involved will live together and, with the help of the staff, try to work out their problems collectively.

He said initial counseling will be aimed at motivation. Then, he said, counselors will work at developing new values.

Chaperones Omitted

In Tuesday's edition of the Circleville Herald, the names of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Rossiter were inadvertently omitted from the list of chaperones accompanying the CHS Band to Indianapolis.

Use The Classifieds

were given by the secretary.

Officers for 1975 are Dalton DeLong, president; Jack Barnes, vice-president; Gwendolyn Egan, treasurer; Celesta Hoy, secretary.

DeLong named his committees for the next year. Nomination Committee, Jean West, Mildred Karshner and June Poling; Decorating and table Committee, Jim and Barbara Hettinger, Joyce Robinette, Judy Hartranft and Jane Reed. Persons to see to getting paper for the tables are Lois Swebston and Florence Johnston.

Following the roll call of classes and former teachers, Barnes presented a red carnation to each member of the honored classes, 1924, and 1949. Only one alumni member from out of state was present, Mrs. Opal Hoy Bottlemey of Walworth, Wis. A history of the 50-year graduates was given by Mrs. Gertrude Ebert Butts. Mrs. June Wolf Eveland recalled school happenings for the class of 1949 and introduced each of her classmates present.

The history of the alumni for the past year was given by the historian, Celesta Hoy. Remarks by Barnes closed the program.

Piano music was furnished throughout the evening by Mike Bailey, class of 1965. The delicious ham dinner was served by the ladies of the Laurelville Church of God.

Twins Plentiful In Mentor Plat

MENTOR, Ohio (AP) — Families living in the 8700 block of Arrowood Drive in this suburban city feel there may be something special about their location: five of the six have had twins. Latest parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fay, whose home the past three years is in the middle of the group. "They told me not to move in" or to expect to have twins, she said. Their two boys were born about mid-May.

Instructors at Lakeland Community College in nearby Kirtland figure the probability that five of six mothers would have twins is about one in 550 million.

Teenage Pageant Scheduled

THE DEADLINE for receiving applications in our office for the 3rd annual Miss Ohio Teen Ager Pageant has been set for June 10, 1974. Those who already have applications, should return them immediately. Any interested young ladies desiring to enter this year's pageant may obtain applications from the Official Certification Office, P. O. Box 406, Rockton, Illinois 61072. The annual event will be held on July 12 and 13 at the Sheraton in Cleveland.

The Ohio Pageant is open to all girls residing in the state between the ages of 13 and 17 with Judging based on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality, and appearance. In addition, state contestants are required to write an essay on What's Right About America to be presented at the State Finals and the top three winners will receive special awards. There will be no talent or swim suit competition.

The Current Miss Ohio Teen Ager is Jean McGowan of West Carrollton. The Ohio State Pageant is a preliminary to our National Teen Ager Pageant Finals. Each state winner participates in the National Finals held in Atlanta, Georgia, receiving an all expense paid six day trip with various tours of points of interest.

Miss Betty Nightingale of Fort Fairfield, Maine, is the current Miss National Teen Ager. Each state winner receives a $750 scholarship to Massey Jr. College in Atlanta, Georgia, with first runner up receiving a $500 scholarship and the second runner up receiving a $250 scholarship to the same school.

Judges named to date are Edward H. Cothran, Bruce Hagins, Miss Barbara Jean Coffie, Walter E. Marnell, Mrs. Harold Isaacs, Mrs. Ross Barnes, George Sudhouse, Jerry Hedeane and Louis P. Hehman.

Police Probe To Be Wide, Perk Asserts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland's probe of charges of police corruption will extend to reform of the whole safety force, Mayor Ralph J. Perk said Tuesday.

"They are looking at the fire department, the Warrensville Workhouse, and anything related to the safety department," Perk said of his crime commission.

"There is a great deal of inefficiency caused by the fire department work schedules where they work 24 hours and are off 48," the mayor said.

"It was their decision to work on reform instead of investigation," Perk said. "The God Squad will have absolute authority to move in whatever way they feel is necessary."

Mrs. John E. Manning, crime commission secretary, said there have been four or five meetings since she was appointed April 4.

But Lindsey Cowen, dean of the Case Western Reserve University Law School, said reform had not been discussed at any of the meetings he had attended. Cowen also was appointed April 4.

The commission was dubbed the God Squad after Perk originally constituted it with five clergymen.

Council leaders have pledged support of legislative changes, including those requiring votes by the electorate.

Council President George L. Forbes has said reforms will be at least partly implemented by the council's summer recess July 7.

Sandra Curry To Graduate

Sandra Curry, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Curry, Route 2, Circleville, will graduate from the Ohio School for the Deaf, Columbus, at the school's commencement exercises, June 7.

Miss Curry entered the Ohio School for the Deaf in 1962. She has been active in sports and Girl Scouts.

QUICK COURSE—John Kirkeide, 18, takes one of his last walks across the North Dakota State University campus. Kirkeide will graduate after spending one year at the University. He says a speed reading course he took in high school helped him to earn his college degree in one year.

Controlling Board Releases Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A new supplier for paper for state lottery tickets was approved Tuesday by the State Controlling Board, watchdog of state spending.

The board allowed the Department of Administrative Services to make an agreement with a Columbus firm — Brewer, Chilcote Co. — for 190,000 pounds of the special safety paper at a cost of $68,484.

A department spokesman said the previous contract holder, Globe Ticket Co., hadn't been able to find the paper and canceled the contract.

Although the tickets have yet to be printed, the department said plans to put them on sale in July and have the first drawing in August would not be delayed.

The board also released more than $4.4 million for higher education, practically all of it earmarked for construction projects.

Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, questioned why 22 requests from higher education came in at the same time.

Board of Regents finance officer Henry Whitcomb said the regents review all requests at their own meeting and then send them to the next control board session.

Among major requests approved by the board:

Freshmen Train In FFA Program

The Logan Elm Chapter of Future Farmers of America met Tuesday for the monthly meeting.

The chapter is scheduling a tractor training program for the freshmen in the Logan Elm FFA.

The training includes backing a manure spreader between stakes with about two inches clearance on each side. The spreader will be taken out the same way and through an obstacle course. The same thing is done to a four bottom plow.

The final task is to back a gravity bed wagon between four stakes.

—$665,276 for architectural fees, engineering fees, contingencies and moveable equipment for Hocking Technical College.

—$574,409 from the emergency fund to cover increased payroll costs from implementing a pay raise bill for state employees based on the consumer price index.

—$197,746 to the Department of Education as the state's share of reimbursement for purchase of 50 school buses.

—$308,539 to Ohio University for air conditioning of Bently Hall.

—$2,350,000 to Wright State University for phase two of completion of its biological sciences building.

—$226,286 to Youngstown State University for the balance of architectural fees and planning funds on its classroom-faculty office building.

Street Lights Hit By Landslides

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Continuing landslides on the north side of Columbia Parkway, which overlooks the Ohio River, prompted the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. to ask the city for permission to move street lights to the south side of the street.

City Manager E. Robert Turner said the move would cost the city about $8,000.

Ask Authority To Lease Space

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati City Manager E. Robert Turner asked city council for authority to lease space in the Cincinnati Technical College on a regular basis to house the Cincinnati Police Academy. Ohio earlier purchased the school, formerly Courter Technical High School, to establish the vocational school.

The police school has been operating on a temporary base at the college since 1972.

Laurelville Alumni Banquet Held

Class members and their guests totaling 162 gathered at the school cafeteria on Saturday evening May 18th, to enjoy the Laurelville High school Alumni banquet. After registering at the door every one was seated at tables decorated with the school colors, also the colors of the honored class of 1949, blue and gold.

The class of 1924 which was also honored was seated at a table decorated with their class colors of scarlet and gray. Posters bearing each of the honored class mottos hung near their tables. The theme of the evening was "The Year of Shortages" and was carried out in the program back which were made from gayly colored wallpaper samples.

Mrs. Mary Rose gave the invocation preceding dinner. The business session and program was presided over by the president, Jack Barnes. The treasurer and secretary's reports

Unveil Plan For Alcohol, Drug Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Rehabilitation and Correction reports a federally-funded program to treat inmates with alcohol and drug problems will get underway this week at the Marion Correctional Institution.

Sixteen inmates with drug-related problems will be transferred to a newly-remodeled dormitory to participate in Project Papillon, the agency said Tuesday.

Eventually the project, which involves collective treatment, will be expanded to include 100 of the prison's 1,100 inmates, the department said.

The federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration provided $90,000 last fall to plan for the project and turned over another $215,000 last month to run it for 15 months.

Clyde Scott, the project's director, said the focus will be on treatment of social and psychological difficulties that led to dependence on drugs or alcohol.

Scott said the inmates involved will live together and, with the help of the staff, try to work out their problems collectively.

He said initial counseling will be aimed at motivation. Then, he said, counselors will work at developing new values.

Chaperones Omitted

In Tuesday's edition of the Circleville Herald, the names of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Rossiter were inadvertently omitted from the list of chaperones accompanying the CHS Band to Indianapolis.

Walton Top Pick In NBA Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Barnes' mother thinks her son is worth more than Bill Walton. And Marvin tends to agree.

Walton, the three-time All-American and two-time College Player of the Year from UCLA, was officially made the No. 1 pick in the National Basketball Association's draft of college players by the Portland Trail Blazers Tuesday.

Actually, the Trail Blazers had signed Walton before the draft, the Bruins' 6-foot-11 center agreeing to a five-year contract for between $2 million and $3 million.

Portland and Philadelphia, the teams with the worst records in the league last season, had conducted a coin flip to determine the No. 1 pick. The Trail Blazers won.

That left the 76ers with the No. 2 choice, and after being rejected by the league in an effort to draft 1974 Player of the Year David Thompson of North Carolina State, they selected Barnes, the 6-9 All-American from Providence.

A very happy player acknowledged that his mother was recommending a $3 million contract. "That sounds good to me," he said. Barnes was the nation's leading rebounder last season and the runner-up in 1973. He was drafted last year by Denver of the American Basketball Association.

Barnes' teammate, Kevin Stacom, was picked in the second round by the Boston Celtics.

Big men were at a premium in the first round, with 15 of the 18 players selected being centers or forwards.

Buffalo selected Rhodes scholar winner Tom McMillen of Maryland as the ninth pick over-all, considered by some a surprise because the lanky McMillen might pass up pro ball to continue his education. Furthermore, his toughness, stamina and lack of speed have been questioned by pros.

The Atlanta Hawks' first choice was center Mike Sojourner of Utah, the Most Valuable Player in the 1974 National Invitation Tournament, who was taken from the hardship list.

Another center drafted as a hardship in the first round was junior Maurice Lucas of Marquette, taken by the Chicago Bulls. It brought a bitter reaction toward pro recruiters and lawyers representing players from Marquette Coach Al McGuire, who lost juniors Jim Chones in 1972 and Larry McNeill in 1973 to the pros.

The new New Orleans team chose Aaron James of Grambling in the second round as its first selection. It had traded away its first-round choice. It also named Scotty Robertson of Louisiana Tech as coach.

In the only trade Tuesday, the New York Knicks gave their first-round choice to Chicago for forward Howard Porter and the Bulls' second-round pick in 1975.

Other big men selected in the first round were: 7-foot-4 Tom Burleson of North Carolina State, by Seattle; All-American John Shumate of Notre Dame, by Phoenix; Bobby Jones of North Carolina, by Houston; Scott Wedman of Colorado, by Kansas City-Omaha; Campy Russell of Michigan, by Cleveland; All-American Keith Wilkes of UCLA, by Golden State, and Len Elmore of Maryland, by Washington. Tom Henderson of Hawaii was the first guard chosen, going to Atlanta.

Cincinnati Reds Rip New York Mets For 7-2 Victory

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — New York Mets Manager Yogi Berra, whose pitchers were mowed down twice in a row by the surging Cincinnati Reds, sends Jon Matlack, 5-2 to the mound tonight hoping to beat Don Gullett 5-3. "They been scoring early against us," said Berra, after the Reds, brandishing home runs by John Bench and Merv Rettenmund, routed New York 7-2. It was the fifth straight victory for Cincinnati.

George Stone, 2-4, was roughed up for all the runs in his 4 2-3 innings while Cincinnati's Clay Kirby, 3-3, didn't need relief help from Clay Carroll until the final out.

"He could have had a shutout," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, "and this was not one of his better games."

Kirby, making his 10th fielding error in five games, allowed the Mets two unearned runs in the sixth inning. He fielded Ron Hodges' comeback grounder, wheeled to throw out Ken Boswell at second and heaved the ball past Dave Concepcion. Bud Harrelson singled home one run and Felix Millan collected an RBI with a sacrifice fly. "The Machine looks like it's in gear," said Bench, who jumped on Stone's hanging curve ball in the third inning for a two-run homer. It was Bench's 10th homer.

"It felt super," he said, adding: "Here we go, that's the way we're supposed to do it, you know, each guy picking up the other." The Reds are trying to catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League Western Division. Tony Perez singled home Joe Morgan in the first inning.

Rettenmund blasted his sixth home run in the fourth. Rettenmund was brought from Baltimore to hit left hand pitching.

"I'm hitting home runs and I'm hitting right handers, but not lefthanders," the outfielder said.

"This is the first time I ever got two hits off a lefthander in a game." Rettenmund had been benched five games while hitting coach Ted Kluszewski worked on his stance. Rettenmund scored on Dan Driessen's double.

Pete Rose is not expected to play today, although doctors said he suffered only bruises crashing into the left field wall in the seventh inning after catching a foul fly by Dave Schneck.

"A guy not as strong and well put together could have been seriously hurt," said Manager Anderson. Rose tripped over the visitors' bull pen pitching mound.

The Mets and Reds finish their three-game series tonight.

Mark Justus Tabbed For All Ohio Game

Mark Justus, Logan Elm's stellar infielder, became the first baseball player from Pickaway County to be named to represent Central District Class AA schools in the East-West All Ohio games.

The games will be held June 14, 15, and 16 on the Ohio State University diamond.

Don Dyson, star pitcher of the Grandview Heights Bobcats, was the other Class AA player on the Central District team.

Justus, a senior, played first base for the Braves during the regular season and then switched to third base for tournament play.

He will join Class AAA, AA, and A players from all over the state for the All-Ohio games.

Justus also led balloting for the All AA district team that includes two of his LE teammates and a player from Teays Valley High School.

Scott Pontius of Logan Elm joins Justus on the first team. A junior, he plays shortstop.

Making the honorable mention all-district team are junior Greg Justus, younger brother of Mark, who plays catcher, for the Braves, and Teays Valley's Norm McPherson, a centerfielder.

Cavaliers Pick Russell In Draft

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Cavaliers picked their first hardship choice ever Tuesday when they named Michigan forward Campy Russell as their first choice in the National Basketball Association college draft.

The 6-foot-7, 205-pound junior averaged 23.7 points per game this past season, leading the Wolverines to a share of the Big Ten title with Indiana. Russell led the league in scoring.

He was to be represented by agent Arthur Morse and was believed to be seeking a contract for more than $1 million.

Cavaliers' coach Bill Fitch said he had wanted Michigan's Campy Russell since center Jim Chones was brought under contract a week ago.

The Cavs picked eighth in the first round after trading first choices with Seattle in the deal that brought veteran guard Dick Snyder to Cleveland.

As expected, the Sonics picked North Carolina State's Tom Burleson.

"Russell was the top genuine forward on the list," Fitch said. "He is as big as our forwards and can play the small forward spot. In Campy, we'll probably have to wait a little longer for him because he's young, but we predict he will be one of the real fine players in this league."

Gordie, Mark Howe Win Hockey Awards

TORONTO (AP) — Gordie Howe, who won six Hart Trophies as the Most Valuable Player in the National Hockey League, capped his "rookie" season in the World Hockey Association by winning the second-year league's MVP award at 46 years of age.

Howe finished third in the league's scoring race with 31 goals and 69 assists after coming out of a two-year retirement to join his sons Mark and Marty on the WHA champion Houston Aeros. He drew 135 points in the media balloting, outdrawing WHA scoring leader Mike Walton of the Minnesota Fighting Saints, who had 86.

Mark Howe, the youngest son and a more conventional rookie at 19, was selected WHA Rookie of the Year.

SD Challenge Stakes Features 9 Trotters

Nine four-year-old trotters will move in behind the mobile starting gate Thursday night at Scioto Downs in the $12,500 Challenge Stakes series.

The Howard Beissinger stable entry of Mac Arthur and South Bend, and the Columbus-owned entry of Smart Noble, are the slight early morning line favorites.

Mac Arthur, named for General Douglas Mac Arthur, and South Bend, named for owner Joe Mendelson's alma mater at Notre Dame, each have one 1974 start. Mac Arthur, who will be driven by Beissinger's first-class assistant driver Mike Zeller won his start last Friday at Scioto in 2:04 3-5. The son of Star's Pride took a time trial record of 2:01 3-5 last year while earning over $70,000.

South Bend, with two-time Hambletonian winner Howard Beissinger in the sulky, finished third to season champion Keystone Mite last week. This son of Star's Pride earned his best record as a two year old in 2:01 4-5, but he earned over $90,000 last season.

Smart Noble, a blistering bay son of Noble Victory, owned by Dr. John P. Stevens of Columbus, who his first race in three starts this year, last Friday night in a convincing 2:03 3-5. Trained and driven by Rick Midden who comes by his talent naturally, being the grandson of the veteran Curly Smart, Smart Noble won his race like a champion. Leaving the gate from the number seven post position, Smart Noble raced on the outside for nearly seven-eighths of a mile, and defeated the great Parlay R.C. by a half length in 2:03 3-5.

Joe O'Brien, harness racing's Hall of Famer, and the man who has driven more two minute miles than any other driver, will go to the post with Fan's Favorite, owned by Mrs. Samuel Huttenbauer of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The son of 1963 Hambletonian winner, Speedy Scot, won last week at Hazel Park over an off track in 2:04. Last year with three wins, three seconds, and three thirds to his credit, Fan's Favorite posted a best time of 2:02 1-5.

Rated right among the top contenders in the rich Challenge Stakes this week are a pair of Ohio-owned speedsters, Yum Yum Girl, co-owned by driver Sid Spencer, Roger Spencer, and Jacob Weinberger of Pomeroy and Wingait Highball, owned by Henrietta Beasley of Springfield with canny Bob Cheney in the sulky. Yum Yum Girl won 13 of 34 starts last year, and Wingait Highball won 7 of 18 starts last season.

Big John's Boy with a mark of 2:04 this year, and Art Lamb's Kool King, a son of B. F. Coaltown, rate high, along with Dick Williams' Corned Beef to complete the field.

Scioto Downs will continue the Saturday morning Racing Clinic this week with a starting time of 10:30 a.m.

The clinic, with racing experts explaining the finer points of the sport, will be followed by a series of Qualifying Races at 11 a.m. The clinics are free of charge, open to the public, and all refreshment stands in the grandstand will be open.

Perry, Tribe Blank Texas

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Gaylord Perry vows his pitches are greaseless and the Texas Rangers—almost to a man—agreed the Cleveland star's slants Tuesday night were without "doctoring."

The 35-year-old Perry, who wears a gray stubble of a beard on game day that makes him appear 10 years older, mastered the Rangers 8-0 on a five-hitter and became the first pitcher in the major leagues to win eight games. In fact, the only time the tireless Perry has lost was on opening day to the New York Yankees.

"I've watched Perry pitch for years and I thought he loaded up every other ball, but I didn't see him go to it a time tonight," said former Chicago Cub Ferguson Jenkins, now the ace on the Rangers' staff.

Sluggie Jeff Burroughs said, "He wasn't even using the tricky motion he used to use. There was nothing irregular with his pitches."

Perry said, "I'm just not using the greaseball any more ... not since the crackdown. Oh, I still move around some to psyche the hitters. I got to watching former Los Angeles star Don Drysdale, the way he used to tug at his hat and his belt ... It upset great hitters like Willie Mays, I decided to use it then."

Team 5 Leads PCC League

Team No. 5 scored 17½ points to take the lead in the Tuesday Men's Golf League at Pickaway Country Club. With just one week to go in the first round, Team 5 has a total of 61½ points Team 3, 61 points and Team 2, 56 points.

Bigham Honored

Greg Bigham, former star of the Westfall High School Mustangs, has been named to the honorable mention team of the Ohio Conference for his play at third base for Capital University.

He is a senior.

First To Use Anytime Bank

Pictured above are fourth grade students from High Street Elementary School who are receiving instructions on how to use the new Anytime Bank machine which has been installed at the Main Office of The Second National Bank. This is the first demonstration on the use of this machine which will be placed in operation in July, 1974. Steve Smalley, Coordinator, is shown demonstrating to the students who toured the bank.

SD Challenge Stakes Features 9 Trotters

Nine four-year-old trotters will move in behind the mobile starting gate Thursday night at Scioto Downs in the $12,500 Challenge Stakes series.

The Howard Beissinger stable entry of Mac Arthur and South Bend, and the Columbus-owned entry of Smart Noble, are the slight early morning line favorites.

Mac Arthur, named for General Douglas Mac Arthur, and South Bend, named for owner Joe Mendelson's alma mater at Notre Dame, each have one 1974 start. Mac Arthur, who will be driven by Beissinger's first-class assistant driver Mike Zeller won his start last Friday at Scioto in 2:04 3-5. The son of Star's Pride took a time trial record of 2:01 3-5 last year while earning over $70,000.

South Bend, with two-time Ham-

bletonian winner Howard Beissinger in the sulky, finished third to season champion Keystone Mite last week. This son of Star's Pride earned his best record as a two year old in 2:01 4-5, but he earned over $90,000 last season.

Smart Noble, a blistering bay son of Noble Victory, owned by Dr. John P. Stevens of Columbus, who his first race in three starts this year, last Friday night in a convincing 2:03 3-5. Trained and driven by Rick Midden who comes by his talent naturally, being the grandson of the veteran Curly Smart, Smart Noble won his race like a champion. Leaving the gate from the number seven post position, Smart Noble raced on the outside for nearly seven-eighths of a mile, and defeated the great Parlay R.C. by a half length in 2:03 3-5.

Joe O'Brien, harness racing's Hall of Famer, and the man who has driven more two minute miles than any other driver, will go to the post with Fan's Favorite, owned by Mrs. Samuel Huttenbauer of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The son of 1963 Hambletonian winner, Speedy Scot, won last week at Hazel Park over an off track in 2:04. Last year with three wins, three seconds, and three thirds to his credit, Fan's Favorite posted a best time of 2:02 1-5.

Rated right among the top contenders in the rich Challenge Stakes this week are a pair of Ohio-owned speedsters, Yum Yum Girl, co-owned by driver Sid Spencer, Roger Spencer, and Jacob Weinberger of Pomeroy and Wingait Highball, owned by Henrietta Beasley of Springfield with canny Bob Cheney in the sulky. Yum Yum Girl won 13 of 34 starts last year, and Wingait Highball won 7 of 18 starts last season.

Big John's Boy with a mark of 2:04 this year, and Art Lamb's Kool King, a son of B. F. Coaltown, rate high, along with Dick Williams' Corned Beef to complete the field.

Scioto Downs will continue the Saturday morning Racing Clinic this week with a starting time of 10:30 a.m.

The clinic, with racing experts explaining the finer points of the sport, will be followed by a series of Qualifying Races at 11 a.m. The clinics are free of charge, open to the public, and all refreshment stands in the grandstand will be opened.

LE Loses Summer Game

Logan Elm lost to Lancaster Blue 3-1 on the Lancaster High School diamond in the first round of the Mid State Summer Baseball League Tuesday.

The Braves scored in the third on a double by Randy Pontius and a single by Scott Pontius. Lancaster scored all three runs in the bottom of the sixth when they put together two doubles, a single and two walks.

Steve Rawlins was the LE hurler, walking three, fanning four.

This year's eighth graders, freshman, sophomores and juniors are eligible to play in the Mid State Summer League. Last night LE coach Vic Pontius started four freshmen, three sophomores and two juniors.

The league plays a single round schedule and then caps the summer activities with a tournament scheduled this year at Lancaster High School.

Perry, Tribe Blank Texas

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Gaylord Perry vows his pitches are greaseless and the Texas Rangers—almost to a man—agreed the Cleveland star's slants Tuesday night were without "doctoring."

The 35-year-old Perry, who wears a gray stubble of a beard on game day that makes him appear 10 years older, mastered the Rangers 8-0 on a five-hitter and became the first pitcher in the major leagues to win eight games. In fact, the only time the tireless Perry has lost was on opening day to the New York Yankees.

"I've watched Perry pitch for years and I thought he loaded up every other ball, but I didn't see him go to it a time tonight," said former Chicago Cub Ferguson Jenkins, now the ace on the Rangers' staff.

Sluggier Jeff Burroughs said, "He wasn't even using the tricky motion he used to use. There was nothing irregular with his pitches."

Perry said, "I'm just not using the greaseball any more ... not since the crackdown. Oh, I still move around some to psyche the hitters. I got to watching former Los Angeles star Don Drysdale, the way he used to tug at his hat and his belt ... It upset great hitters like Willie Mays, I decided to use it then."

Team 5 Leads PCC League

Team No. 5 scored 17½ points to take the lead in the Tuesday Men's Golf League at Pickaway Country Club. With just one week to go in the first round, Team 5 has a total of 61½ points Team 3, 61 points and Team 2, 56 points.

Bigham Honored

Greg Bigham, former star of the Westfall High School Mustangs, has been named to the honorable mention team of the Ohio Conference for his play at third base for Capital University.

He is a senior.

Nesting Seasons Success In Ohio

By JIM DAUBEL

Written for The Associated Press

Spring is the nesting season for most Ohio wildlife and, thanks to hunters and the money they spend on licenses, no species reproduces itself more successfully than the Canada goose.

Consider these facts:
—Sixteen years ago there were no regularly nesting wild Canada geese in Ohio. This month nearly 700 active nests were counted on four state-operated goose-rearing preserves.
—The number of year-round resident wild geese has increased from zero in 1957 to 6,450 at last count.

—Over the same period Ohio has raised more than 47,000 free-flying Canadas.

—When the goose project began, Ohio attracted some 2,500 migrating Canadas annually. Nearly 40,000 were counted in last fall's census.

—Some 1,500 Canadas stopped over annually in the Lake Erie marsh region in the late 1950's. As many as 27,000 have been counted in a single year since.

The man chiefly responsible for this dramatic turn-about is Karl Bednarik, waterfowl biologist with the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

He launched the goose program in 1957 with 10 mated pairs of Canadas on each of three state-owned preserves—at Killdeer Plains in Wyandot County,

Mosquito Creek Reservoir in Trumbull County and Grand Lake St. Marys in Mercer County.

The fourth area, Crane Creek, was opened in Ottawa County in 1967.

One of the more significant breakthroughs came in the early 1960's when Bednarik pioneered the development of raised nesting boxes. Fashioned from sections of 50-gallon oil drums the platforms are raised four or five feet above water or land. Geese hatched in such devices are imprinted for life, and usually return to nest in the same or similar tubs.

The platform nests improve on ground-nest success by cutting losses due to predators, territorial combat among ganders and high water. Greater nesting density also is achieved by use of raised nests.

Bednarik's program, financed exclusively by license and hunting fees, was cited by the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife as "the most successful goose production project in the nation" in the 1960's.

league baseball tryouts in Shabbona Park in Chicago. She is the only girl among 275 boys in the park's Pee Wee league.

Tommy Cassanova Signs With Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Defensive safety Tommy Cassanova has signed a multi-year contract with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

The two-year pro from Louisiana State University is the latest in a series of players to sign multi-year contracts with Cincinnati which earlier lost a suit to prevent the World Football League from signing their players to future contracts.

The case remains in litigation.

Bob DeMarco Signs Pact With Browns

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The Cleveland Browns announced Tuesday that veteran center Bob DeMarco has agreed to contract terms for the 1974 professional football season.

DeMarco has started every game for the Browns since coming to Cleveland in 1972. He is a veteran of 14 years in the National Football League.

Lee Trevino has won more than $200,000 in each of the past three years on the PGA golf tour.

2 Ohioans Chosen Early

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Donald Smith of Dayton and Phil Lumpkin of Miami of Ohio, who were teammates at Dayton Roth High School, both were selected early in the National Basketball Association's college draft Tuesday.

"It was our ultimate goal," Lumpkin said of his and Smith's hopes of reaching the professional ranks.

"I really can't remember our ever sitting down and having an all-out rap about it—it was just a quiet understanding," the diminutive Redskin guard added.

The two both were picked in the second round of the draft, Smith by Philadelphia and Lumpkin by Portland. They were among five players from four Ohio colleges selected.

Dayton was the only school furnishing two performers in the 10 rounds of drafting. Selected in addition to Smith was Mike Sylvester, a sixth round choice of Detroit.

Lloyd Batts of Cincinnati was picked by Kansas City—Omaha and Wardell Jackson of Ohio State was taken in the sixth round by Seattle.

Lumpkin, a six-foot, 167-pounder who also was selected by the Virginia Squires in the American Basketball Association draft, said he wasn't sure which team he will go with.

Smith, a six-foot, 160-pound sharp-shooter, acknowledged that his selection was the culmination of a longtime ambition.

"I've invested a lot of time practicing basketball, sometimes until 2 or 3 in the morning," he said. "And now it's all going to pay off."

Smith also was noncommittal about whether he will go with the 76ers or the Kentucky Colonels, who picked him in the ABA undergraduate draft last year. But his father, David, was certain he will play for Philadelphia.

"Woeeee, God almighty," the elder Smith exclaimed upon hearing the news. "That's where I hoped he would go. I'm telling you, I've got tears of happiness in my eyes for Donald."

Batts, who expressed disappointment earlier at not being selected in the ABA draft until the fourth round, when he was picked by the Colonels, said he hadn't made a choice of leagues.

The 6-5 guard, whose 20-points-per-game average is second only to Oscar Robertson's record at Cincinnati, said his decision will be based on where he thinks he will get to play most. "I want to play," Batts said. "I'm not expecting to go in and play right away, but I'd want to go where I thought I had the best chance of working in and getting some playing time."

New Bishop For Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — About 1,600 persons were expected today for the ordination of the Most Rev. Albert H. Ottenweller as first auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Toledo.

Bishops John Donovan of Toledo and William Cosgrove of Cleveland and Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati were among those expected for the ceremonies at Rosary Cathedral.

Bishop-elect Ottenweller was appointed to join Bishop Donovan in administration of the 19-county diocese. It includes 165 parishes and 330,000 church members in northwestern Ohio.

The bishop-elect was associate pastor 1943-59 at St. John Parish in Delphos, Ohio. He studied for the priesthood at Catholic University in Washington, D.C.

He returned to Delphos as pastor in 1968 and since then has been director of the Spanish-speaking apostolate of the diocese.

- The number of year-round resident wild geese has increased from zero in 1957 to 6,450 at last count.
- Over the same period Ohio has raised more than 47,000 free-flying Canadas.
- When the goose project began, Ohio attracted some 2,500 migrating Canadas annually. Nearly 40,000 were counted in last fall's census.
- Some 1,500 Canadas stopped over annually in the Lake Erie marsh region in the late 1950's. As many as 27,000 have been counted in a single year since.

The man chiefly responsible for this dramatic turn-about is Karl Bednarik, waterfowl biologist with the Ohio Division of Wildlife. He launched the goose program in 1957 with 10 mated pairs of Canadas on each of three state-owned preserves—at Killdeer Plains in Wyandot County,

2 Ohioans Chosen Early

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Donald Smith of Dayton and Phil Lumpkin of Miami of Ohio, who were teammates at Dayton Roth High School, both were selected early in the National Basketball Association's college draft Tuesday.

"It was our ultimate goal," Lumpkin said of his and Smith's hopes of reaching the professional ranks.

"I really can't remember our ever sitting down and having an all-out rap about it—it was just a quiet understanding," the diminutive Redskin guard added.

The two both were picked in the second round of the draft, Smith by Philadelphia and Lumpkin by Portland. They were among five players from four Ohio colleges selected. Dayton was the only school furnishing two performers in the 10 rounds of drafting. Selected in addition to Smith was Mike Sylvester, a sixth round choice of Detroit.

Lloyd Batts of Cincinnati was picked by Kansas City—Omaha and Wardell Jackson of Ohio State was taken in the sixth round by Seattle.

Lumpkin, a six-foot, 167-pounder who also was selected by the Virginia Squires in the American Basketball Association draft, said he wasn't sure which team he will go with.

Smith, a six-foot, 160-pound sharpshooter, acknowledged that his selection was the culmination of a longtime ambition.

"I've invested a lot of time practicing basketball, sometimes until 2 or 3 in the morning," he said. "And now it's all going to pay off."

Smith also was noncommittal about whether he will go with the 76ers or the Kentucky Colonels, who picked him in the ABA undergraduate draft last year. But his father, David, was certain he will play for Philadelphia.

"Wooooee, God almighty," the elder Smith exclaimed upon hearing the news. "That's where I hoped he would go. I'm telling you, I've got tears of happiness in my eyes for Donald."

Batts, who expressed disappointment earlier at not being selected in the ABA draft until the fourth round, when he was picked by the Colonels, said he hadn't made a choice of leagues.

The 6-5 guard, whose 20-points-per-game average is second only to Oscar Robertson's record at Cincinnati, said his decision will be based on where he thinks he will get to play most.

New Bishop For Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — About 1,600 persons were expected today for the ordination of the Most Rev. Albert H. Ottenweller as first auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Toledo.

Bishops John Donovan of Toledo and William Cosgrove of Cleveland and Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati were among those expected for the ceremonies at Rosary Cathedral.

Bishop-elect Ottenweller was appointed to join Bishop Donovan in administration of the 19-county diocese. It includes 165 parishes and 330,000 church members in northwestern Ohio.

The bishop-elect was associate pastor 1943-59 at St. John Parish in Delphos, Ohio. He studied for the priesthood at Catholic University in Washington, D.C.

He returned to Delphos as pastor in 1968 and since then has been director of the Spanish-speaking apostolate of the diocese.

Mosquito Creek Reservoir in Trumbull County and Grand Lake St. Marys in Mercer County.

The fourth area, Crane Creek, was opened in Ottawa County in 1967.

One of the more significant breakthroughs came in the early 1960's when Bednarik pioneered the development of raised nesting boxes. Fashioned from sections of 50-gallon oil drums the platforms are raised four or five feet above water or land. Geese hatched in such devices are imprinted for life, and usually return to nest in the same or similar tubs.

The platform nests improve on ground-nest success by cutting losses due to predators, territorial combat among ganders and high water. Greater nesting density also is achieved by use of raised nests.

Bednarik's program, financed exclusively by license and hunting fees, was cited by the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife as "the most successful goose production project in the nation" in the 1960's.

Tommy Cassanova Signs With Bengals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Defensive safety Tommy Cassanova has signed a multi-year contract with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League.

The two-year pro from Louisiana State University is the latest in a series of players to sign multi-year contracts with Cincinnati which earlier lost a suit to prevent the World Football League from signing their players to future contracts.

The case remains in litigation.

Bob DeMarco Signs Pact With Browns

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns announced Tuesday that veteran center Bob DeMarco has agreed to contract terms for the 1974 professional football season.

DeMarco has started every game for the Browns since coming to Cleveland in 1972. He is a veteran of 14 years in the National Football League.

Lee Trevino has won more than $200,000 in each of the past three years on the PGA golf tour.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Curb your inborn aggressiveness now. You can attain your objectives, even the "impossible" ones, by using subtle tactics.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Don't let false pride hinder your progress. If you feel stymied in a certain area, don't hesitate to ask advice. Even a person less gifted than yourself could prove helpful.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Don't let a tricky situation dismay you. Your innate intuition, which often borders on real inspiration, will see you through.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Indications of stepped-up action in certain areas. Study well and be prepared to grasp any opportunity to advance your status.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): New prospects highlighted. What you consider an "obstacle" to your plans is only an illusion. Proceed with confidence.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Better advantages than you may realize at first. An especially good period for revitalizing projects which you may have considered dropping.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Mixed influences. Organize talents and experiences to promote your interests more efficiently. Some personal plans may have to be deleted from your program for the present.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Quality of effort must be stressed over quantity now. Use your strong will power thoughtfully — for or against certain propositions. The emphasis MUST be on constructiveness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Consult others before making important decisions. Your endurance may be tested, but you are used to tests — and usually come through with flying colors.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Saturn influences indicate a day of successful moves and plans, but all will require know-how, diligence and painstaking care. Don't launch into uncharted seas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): This day could have its tricky moments. You will do well to maintain an even, systematic pace and procedure, no matter what pressures may be put upon you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You should encounter few obstacles now, but be on guard against "little" errors, miscalculations. Romance and travel favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile and often couple a profitable avocation along with your regular life work. You have talent for music, writing, architecture, the law and teaching — but, in the latter case, only if you are interested in the subject and can control your normal impatience with those less gifted than yourself. You have a remarkable memory and the curiosity and persistence needed to excel in research. You tend to scatter energies at times, however, mostly trying to achieve in widely separated fields. Try to concentrate on one thing at a time. Also, try to avoid a tendency toward hypersensitivity. Birthdate of: Cornelia Otis Skinner, writer, actress; Benny Goodman, clarinetist.

DO IT BY ROYE — Dallas soccer player Kyle Rote Jr. fends off St. Louis man during game in Dallas, Texas.

Dead Heat Marks Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Miss Dusty Sun zipped past the field along the rail and finished in a dead heat with Alex Hanover in the featured race at Scioto Downs Tuesday night.

Miss Dusty Sun paid $4.20, $4 and $3.40. Alex Hanover returned $3, $3 and $2.40.

The 2-5 daily double combination of Slick Time and D.M.A. was worth $53.60.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
I S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — I'm ashamed to admit it, but until a few days ago I'd never seen those daytime shows that got their own Emmy awards salute Tuesday. However, a bad cold helped me see the light.

I repaired to bed shortly after noon with a high fever. I turned on the TV set and saw two daytime shows before falling asleep. One was "Let's Make a Deal," the other "The Guiding Light."

Mrs. Tidwell, the lady down the hall, had told me earlier "Let's Make a Deal" was a soap opera and "Guiding Light" a game show. I think that's what she said.

As drama, "Let's Make a Deal" seemed one of those off-Broadway things where surrealism, blank verse and refrigerators blend together in a neoclassical setting that at times seemed unreal.

I guess you have to watch it without a fever, but no less than Sinbad Brittle, New York's most prestigious drama critic, has called it "profoundly moving ... a laugh riot and a romp."

The chapter I saw was set in a studio, apparently to set up a play-within-a-play concept. People were dressed in strange garb. One man came disguised as a mail box, a clever commentary on our postal system if ever there was one. But he got no letters.

The principal actor wore a plaid jacket. He said, "Hello, you all. Mr. Cameraman, would you do me a favor? Just sweep that camera down this front row of beautiful ladies who didn't get selected for the trading floor but are still smiling and take a look at them."

He played guessing games $83,365.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — I'm ashamed to admit it, but until a few days ago I'd never seen those daytime shows that got their own Emmy awards salute Tuesday. However, a bad cold helped me see the light.

I repaired to bed shortly after noon with a high fever. I turned on the TV set and saw two daytime shows before falling asleep. One was "Let's Make a Deal," the other "The Guiding Light."

Mrs. Tidwell, the lady down the hall, had told me earlier "Let's Make a Deal" was a soap opera and "Guiding Light" a game show. I think that's what she said.

As drama, "Let's Make a Deal" seemed one of those off-Broadway things where surrealism, blank verse and refrigators blend together in a neoclassical setting that at times seemed unreal.

I guess you have to watch it without a fever, but no less than Sinbad Brittle, New York's most prestigious drama critic, has called it "profoundly moving ... a laugh riot and a romp."

The chapter I saw was set in a studio, apparently to set up a play-within-a-play concept. People were dressed in strange garb. One man came disguised as a mail box, a clever commentary on our postal system if ever there was one. But he got no letters.

The principal actor wore a plaid jacket. He said, "Hello, you all. Mr. Cameraman, would you do me a favor? Just sweep that camera down this front row of beautiful ladies who didn't get selected for the trading floor but are still smiling and take a look at them."

He played guessing games $83,365.

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Shootout gunned past Greenland Jay by a neck to win the featured pace mile in 2:09 at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night and paid $3.80, $2.60 and $2.80.

The place horse paid $4.80 and $4.20. Red Viking was third for $3.

The 2-1 daily double of High Anita and Jimmy B. Delbob was worth $227.40.

Sales Managers Honored By J. W. Eshelman & Sons

AT MEETING—Representatives of management attending the two-day sales meeting of the Circleville plant of John W. Eshelman & Sons, a division of Carnation Company, are left to right D. J. Carpenter, general manager of the Circleville plant, C. Lowell Judd, vice president and Eastern Division general manager, Shawnee Mission, Kansas, Dale Foster, Eastern Division sales manager, Tampa, Florida and E. H. Nelson, Circleville plant sales manager.

Three district sales managers of John W. Eshelman & Sons Circleville plant, a Division of Carnation Company, who received appointments to the Red Rose Executive Sales Council were guests of honor at a banquet recently in connection with a two-day sales meeting held in Ramada Inn South, Columbus.

They were Ray Stone, Route 3, Circleville, Central Ohio District; P. J. Worz, Indiana, Pa., Southwestern Pennsylvania District; and Kenneth L. Curtis, Grove City, Pa., Northeastern Ohio-Northwestern Pennsylvania District. Appointment to the council is the highest recognition given by the company to field sales representatives.

Stone received his fourth appointment to the council in the five years it has been in existence. It is the second year for Worz and the first for Curtis. Those honored received trophies appropriately engraved for the years served on the council, watches with a diamond for each year they are a member of the council and cash awards.

Members serve on the council for one year and assist management concerning certain over all sales policies, programs, products and plans. W. Kenneth Bragg, assistant sales manager at the Circleville plant, was a member for three years. Kenneth Hill, Bellbrook, formerly of Circleville; F. V. Law, Little York, New York; Robert C. Henke, Maysville, Ky.; and Calvin E. Cline, Findlay, were members for one year. With the exception of one year the Circleville sales organization, competing with sales organizations from five Eshelman plants, has had three representatives on the council which was made up of six members in 1969 and five members since that time. Two were appointed in 1971.

Presentation of the awards was made by D. J. Carpenter, general manager of the Circleville plant. He complimented the council members on their appointment and praised the entire sales organization for accomplishments that had contributed to the success of the Circleville plant. Five manufacturing plants owned by John W. Eshelman & Sons were purchased March 1, 1974 by the Carnation Company. Carpenter informed the Sales Group that the Red Rose Executive Sales Council would continue to play a most important part in assisting management in sales related matters as "we go into a 'new era' with John W. Eshelman & Sons, a Division of the Carnation Company.

Keynoting the general sales meeting, conducted by E. H. Nelson, sales manager of the Circleville plant, was C. Lowell Judd, Shawnee Mission, Kansas, Vice President and Eastern Division General Manager. Judd emphasized the importance of identification of the new Eastern Division consisting of the John W. Eshelman & Sons Plants in Circleville, York, Pa.; Chamblee, Georgia; Sanford, N.C.; and Tampa, Fla. whose identity by name remains the same as a division of the Carnation Company and the products identified by the Red Rose Brand remain intact. He also gave a history of the success of the milling division of the Carnation Company and predicted a bright future for the newly established eastern division.

Following the meeting the group enjoyed a golf outing at Bolton Field Course.

5-Month-Old Case Cleared By Radcliff

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson completed a five month investigation Monday arresting Crosby Middleton Chapman, 25, Route 1 Lockbourne, on charges of theft and breaking and entering an inhabited dwelling in the night.

Chapman entered the Ronald Creek home, at the Caravan Trailer Court, Number two, Route 1, Lockbourne, Dec. 23, 1973, taking a stereo and speakers valued at $320. The items were recovered during the investigation.

Pleading not guilty, Tuesday, Chapman was placed in the county jail in lieu of a $12,000 bond for the break-in and $2500 for larceny and is scheduled to appear in municipal court sometime this week.

Detective Thompson arrested 25-year-old Linda Marie Chapman, Route 1, Lockbourne, Tuesday in the forgery of a sales slip using a stolen Master Charge Card.

According to Jack Moats, Ohio National Bank, Columbus, Master Charge fraud investigator, Mrs. Chapman charged $28.48 of clothing March 12 at the Circleville Buckeye Mart, Lancaster Pike.

She is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court today.

Bumpers Beats Sen. Fulbright

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

Fast-rising political newcomer Dale Bumpers ran away with the Arkansas Democratic senatorial nomination and ended the 30-year career of J. W. Fulbright, one of the leading powers in American foreign policy.

The two-term Arkansas governor ran up almost a 2-to-1 victory margin Tuesday over Fulbright, who has been chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee for 15 years.

At the same time, 73-year-old Wayne Morse was winning the Democratic senatorial nomination for a political comeback in Oregon.

Morse, who like Fulbright was a leading Senate critic of U.S. Vietnam policy, will meet Sen. Robert Packwood in the fall. Packwood, who ousted Morse after 24 years in the Senate in 1968, was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

In Kentucky, another of the Democratic new faces, Gov. Wendell Ford, won the party's nomination to challenge Republican Sen. Marlow Cook in November. Both scored easy victories over token primary opposition.

Just four years ago, Bumpers was a school board member and city attorney in Charleston, Ark., a town of 1,500. But in 1970 he upset former six-term Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the Democratic primary and went on to oust incumbent Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

He won re-election in 1972. Both Fulbright and Bumpers said they were surprised at the size of Bumpers' win.

Bumpers, 48, had called for new leadership in Washington to deal with problems such as inflation, energy, federal spending and post-Watergate political clean-up. Fulbright stressed his seniority and experience, but at 69 said he would "cheerfully accept" retirement if that was the voters' verdict.

With 2,626 of the state's 2,786 precincts reporting, Bumpers had 345,801 votes, or 65 per cent, to Fulbright's 187,718, or 35 per cent.

Morse, who was voted out at the height of his anti-Vietnam war effort, used the related theme of usurpation of constitutional power by the President, but said "the numbers of us opposed to it are increasing."

With 1,647 of the 2,514 Oregon precincts reporting, Morse had 89,211 votes, or 49.2 per cent, compared to 71,604, or 39.5 per cent, for his chief opponent in the four-way race, state Senate President Jason Boe.

New Impeachment Subpoena Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Nixon's refusal to provide any more Watergate evidence, the House Judiciary Committee is preparing to subpoena more tapes.

Meanwhile, Judiciary Committee Republicans were advised by the staff Tuesday to seek congressional authorization to go to court for a judgment upholding the panel's right to subpoena evidence from Nixon.

Both Democrats and Republicans, meeting in separate party caucuses Tuesday, decided to support a request by Special Counsel John M. Doar for a new subpoena at a Judiciary Committee meeting Thursday.

Bipartisan support also is expected at the meeting for a letter notifying Nixon he has failed to comply with a previous subpoena and calling his attention to the constitutional authority on which the committee's impeachment inquiry is based.

A party split is shaping up over two other issues due to be considered at the meeting—whether the committee should receive evidence in open or closed hearings, and whether it should make public much of the evidence it has received.

In a related development, Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski asked a federal judge to turn over portions of a White House tape previously withheld from him, saying he had evidence that Nixon may have discussed with aides the use of the Internal Revenue Service to harass political enemies.

And, Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer says he will advise the Supreme Court Thursday that a dispute over tapes taken to the court by Jaworski should be decided first by the U. S. Court of Appeals.

At their caucus, Judiciary Committee Democrats generally supported both open hearings and release of evidence on hand, while Republicans opposed them, for fear, said one, of jeopardizing pending trials of Watergate defendants.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said he thought there would be at least one public hearing next week.

The committee resumes its closed sessions today; Rodino hopes to wind up the presentation of evidence relating to Watergate.

At the Republican caucus, a staff memorandum said a bill, similar to that authorizing the Senate Watergate committee's suit, would be "the surest way for the committee to have its day in court."

Rodino opposes going to court on the subpoena issue on the ground that the Constitution gives the House sole power of impeachment.

The committee has issued three previous subpoenas. In response to the first one, requesting tapes, it got edited transcripts. The last two were rejected by Nixon in a letter last week that said future subpoenas for Watergate material would be rejected.

The committee sent Nixon a letter after receiving the transcripts telling him he had failed to comply with the subpoena. With reluctance on the part of some members, it apparently will take no sterner action this time.

Bonds To Be Issued By Westfall Board

In Tuesday night's continuation of the regular monthly meeting, the Westfall Board of Education passed a resolution authorizing an issue of bonds in the sum of $1,670,000.

A representative from the Construction Management Company was available during the meeting to present an alternate plan for the letting of contracts and supervision during the development and construction phases of the proposed Middle School. No action was taken by the board deciding that further study is needed in this area.

James Fosnaugh and Frank Gans from the First National Bank presented suggestions to the board on investment of bond money. A more definite time schedule is needed for the construction before decisions will be made concerning the investment.

The board of education accepted the certificate of the result of election. Official results reported are 747 votes cast for the issue and 707 cast against it. A resolution was passed requesting the fiscal officer to certify the maximum maturity of bonds and of any notes which may be issued in anticipation of such bonds.

In regular board business, James Kibby was employed as summer driver education instructor. The program will run June 10 through August 2.

Resignations were accepted from two teachers and one non-certified employee.

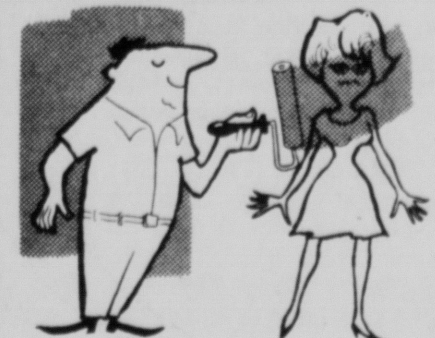

The board gave approval to a request from the Ohio State Grange to use the Westfall building on March 8 and 15, 1975.

Permission was granted to Barbara Distelhorst to use the date of June 3 as a day of personal leave for jury duty. June 3 is a regular work day for teachers.

Action was taken by the board to employ the non-teaching personnel for the 1974-75 school year. At this time positions are vacant for bus drivers; both full and part time, and custodial workers.

The board adjourned its meeting with the resolution to meet again in regular session on June 17 at 8 p.m.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Nixon's refusal to provide any more Watergate evidence, the House Judiciary Committee is preparing to subpoena more tapes.

Meanwhile, Judiciary Committee Republicans were advised by the staff Tuesday to seek congressional authorization to go to court for a judgment upholding the panel's right to subpoena evidence from Nixon.

Both Democrats and Republicans, meeting in separate party caucuses Tuesday, decided to support a request by Special Counsel John M. Doar for a new subpoena at a Judiciary Committee meeting Thursday.

Bipartisan support also is expected at the meeting for a letter notifying Nixon he has failed to comply with a previous subpoena and calling his attention to the constitutional authority on which the committee's impeachment inquiry is based.

A party split is shaping up over two other issues due to be considered at the meeting— whether the committee should receive evidence in open or closed hearings, and whether it should make public much of the evidence it has received.

In a related development, Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski asked a federal judge to turn over portions of a White House tape previously withheld from him, saying he had evidence that Nixon may have discussed with aides the use of the Internal Revenue Service to harass political enemies.

And, Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer says he will advise the Supreme Court Thursday that a dispute over tapes taken to the court by Jaworski should be decided first by the U. S. Court of Appeals.

At their caucus, Judiciary Committee Democrats generally supported both open hearings and release of evidence on hand, while Republicans opposed them, for fear, said one, of jeopardizing pending trials of Watergate defendants.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said he thought there would be at least one public hearing next week.

The committee resumes its closed sessions today; Rodino hopes to wind up the presentation of evidence relating to Watergate.

At the Republican caucus, a staff memorandum said a bill, similar to that authorizing the Senate Watergate committee's suit, would be "the surest way for the committee to have its day in court."

Rodino opposes going to court on the subpoena issue on the ground that the Constitution gives the House sole power of impeachment.

The committee has issued three previous subpoenas. In response to the first one, requesting tapes, it got edited transcripts. The last two were rejected by Nixon in a letter last week that said future subpoenas for Watergate material would be rejected.

The committee sent Nixon a letter after receiving the transcripts telling him he had failed to comply with the subpoena. With reluctance on the part of some members, it apparently will take no sterner action this time.

Bonds To Be Issued By Westfall Board

In Tuesday night's continuation of the regular monthly meeting, the Westfall Board of Education passed a resolution authorizing an issue of bonds in the sum of $1,670,000.

A representative from the Construction Management Company was available during the meeting to present an alternate plan for the letting of contracts and supervision during the development and construction phases of the proposed Middle School. No action was taken by the board deciding that further study is needed in this area.

James Fosnaugh and Frank Gans from the First National Bank presented suggestions to the board on investment of bond money. A more definite time schedule is needed for the construction before decisions will be made concerning the investment.

The board of education accepted the certificate of the result of election. Official results reported are 747 votes cast for the issue and 707 cast against it. A resolution was passed requesting the fiscal officer to certify the maximum maturity of bonds and of any notes which may be issued in anticipation of such bonds.

In regular board business, James Kibby was employed as summer driver education instructor. The program will run June 10 through August 2.

Resignations were accepted from two teachers and one non-certified employee.

The board gave approval to a request from the Ohio State Grange to use the Westfall building on March 8 and 15, 1975.

Permission was granted to Barbara Distelhorst to use the date of June 3 as a day of personal leave for jury duty. June 3 is a regular work day for teachers.

Action was taken by the board to employ the non-teaching personnel for the 1974-75 school year. At this time positions are vacant for bus drivers; both full and part time, and custodial workers.

The board adjourned its meeting with the resolution to meet again in regular session on June 17 at 8 p.m.
